TAX RETURNS SECRET, WERNER RULES

Decision Bars Public Study Of Tax Reports

Jurist Says Interpretation Of Anti-Secrecy Law Violates Constitution

STATE DOESN'T BENEFIT

Judge Lays Down Conditions On Which Reports Can Be Examined

An injunction restraining the Wisconsin Tax commission and income tax assessors from permitting persons to examine income tax returns for private purposes has been issued by Judge Edgar V. Werner of Shawano, sitting for Judge E. R. Stevens of Dane-co circuit court.

The judgment is the result of an action begun by William J. Juneau, Milwaukee real estate broker, against the state tax commission, including Thomas E. Lyons, Carroll Atwood and Charles D. Rosa, and also John H. Leenhouts, assessor of incomes in Milwaukee-co, to prevent the above-named officers from allowing unrestricted examination of his income tax returns.

While the judgment does not hold the repeal of the secrecy clause (Section 71.20) of the state income tax law unconstitutional, and while it concedes the defendants the right to publish the names of taxpayers together with the amounts of their income taxes, it declares that the officers can make disclosures of income tax records only "when directed by a court of competent jurisdiction, in the progress of litigation, and pursuant to the process of subpoena.

The court also concludes "that any person having knowledge of facts bearing on the correctness or falsity of any return of income filed by plaintiff or any other taxpayer may upon satisfying the tax commission, bona fide, that his purpose is to assist the taxing authorities of Wisconsin, be permitted to make examination of the designated return; but such examination must be in the presence of a member of the tax commission or of an assessor of incomes, and may be had only if the said tax commission deem such examination necessary for the protection of the rights of the state and for the purpose of aiding the said taxing authorities.

TO SUPREME COURT

Trottman & Trottman appeared for the plaintiff and the defendants were represented by Herman L. Ekern, attorney general, and J. E. Messerschmidt, associate attorney general. It is understood that the tax commission will carry the case further to the state supreme court. The case was heard in open court in Dane-co circuit court on Sept. 12 of this year.

Assessor of Incomes Leenhouts of Milwaukee-co permitted unrestricted examination of income tax records on the basis of a list of regulations of the state tax commission issued to all income tax offices. On the strength of the repeal of the secrecy clause, the commission authorized assessors to permit the examination by any person of any return upon written application, endorsed by the custodian of the records, and the making of copies there of in the office of the assessor.

It was contended that persons may have examined Mr. Juneau's income tax returns for private purposes solely and without any relation to the enforcement of the revenue laws, and all this other than in the regular course of judicial proceedings.

INJURES TAXPAYERS

The court found that such information, if published, would enable" unauthorized persons to secure private and confidential and others similarly situated; and that the unrestricted disclosure of such private and confidential information to any and all persons applying, for purely private purposes, will not benefit the state in the enforcement of the revenue laws, nor assist the defendants in the assessment and collection of taxes." On the contrary, it was found that such confidential information "can be and is being obtained by divers persons not entitled to the same" and "to the damage of tax-payers filing the same."

The plaintiff, being a real estate broker, would especially be affected, it is held, as he might suffer injury

London—The body of Bonar Law, the former prime minister, will be buried in Westminster Abbey at noon next Monday.

The funeral service will be a full choral service conducted by the dean.

Crew Refuses Obedience On Diet Of Beans

By Associated Press

Honolulu—Eleven members of the crew of the sailing vessel Dahrma were placed in jail here Wednesday on the ships arrival from Chile. The men were imprisoned at the request of Captain Boisett of the vessel, who charged the men with mutiny and with attempting to poison him.

Captain Boisett told the police that three members of the crew refused duty on Oct. 3, when they were ordered to the forecastle. Eight sympathizers, he said, joined them and none of them has worked since.

The only one of the alleged mutineers who speaks English said the men had received beans three times a day for seven days in succession and wanted meat.

ALLEN LEADS MOVE TO FEED GERMAN KIDS

Former Commander Of American Rhine Army Says Situation Is Serious

By Associated Press

Chicago—Major General Henry T. Allen, who commanded the American forces on the Rhine, announced Wednesday on his arrival from Washington, that plans were being made to feed 2,000,000 German children this winter through the medium of the American society of Friends.

General Allen, who returned from a visit to Germany last July declared that "a very grave situation and one with which Germany itself is not able to cope" exists in the former enemy country. He has accepted the chairmanship of the American committee in charge of the campaign which he said had been endorsed by secretary of Commerce Hoover and is being participated in by many nationally known individuals.

"Four years service on the Rhine acquainted me with the growing problem of under-nourishment among the children of Germany," General Allen said. "My recent visit there convinced me of the necessity of immediate action to prevent wholesale starvation among German children."

The campaign will be conducted by the American Committee for Relief of German Children of which General Allen is chairman. President Harvey D. Gibson of the New York Trust company is treasurer and also a member of the national executive committee.

MARY AND DOUG TO START LIBEL SUIT

By Associated Press

New York—Dennis F. Obrien, attorney for Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford, Wednesday began investigation of the circumstances of the publication of an article by a local motion picture magazine in which Mr. and Mrs. Fairbanks were reported to have quarreled over another woman.

"I can not say when the suit will be filed," Mr. O'Brien said," nor do I know what amount will be asked in damages. There is much to be looked into, and it will be some time before legal steps are taken."

The attorney said Evelyn Brent, reported in the publication to have caused the estrangement, would join them in prosecution of suit.

Mrs. Frank B. Kellog is preparing to take up her residence indefinitely in London. Her husband, former senator from Minnesota has accepted the appointment as United States Ambassador to London. The British government formally accepted his appointment Wednesday afternoon.

Borah Says Illinois Senator Carries Fight Of "Irreconcilable" Group Too Far

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1923 by the Post Pub. Co.

Washington—Senator Medill McCormick of Illinois, was twitted good naturedly Tuesday as he dropped in at the White House just as the members of the cabinet were filing in for their regular Tuesday meeting with President Coolidge. The senator had issued the first public statement criticizing the Coolidge-Hughes policy in the European reparations dispute.

"You're behaving like a volcano," Secretary Hughes remarked as he met the Illinois senator in the corridor.

"You made us all get out our dictionaries to find out what Lotophagi are," remarked Bascom Slemp, private secretary to President Coolidge. And a moment later Senator Bill Borah of Idaho came along and was asked what he thought about Medill McCormick's statement, and he took the position that the Illinois senator was carrying his fight of the so-called "irreconciables" group too far.

"Some of the senators who were in that fight," said Mr. Borah with a laugh, "are still suffering from shell shock. Now while we fought the league of nations because we thought it a political alliance, we never intended that America should refrain from conferring with other powers about a world situation. Why we did it in the Morrocan situation and we have always stood ready to give our advice. But it's one thing to enter a political alliance and quite another to discuss economic questions. There seems to be an idea that be can not have an international economic conference without entering into political alliances or talking about cancellation of debts. That's all wrong. We can always confer and we never

BERLIN MAKES DRASTIC CUT IN OFFICIAL JOBS

All Government Employees Over 65 Years Of Age To Be Discharged

Berlin — It it was officially announced Wednesday that from motives of economy and in an effort to balance the budget, drastic reduction in expenditure must be enforced by the German government in all directions. The number of officials of the Reich will be reduced immediately by 25 per cent but no dismissal will be made on political or religious grounds.

The economies include the reduction and postponement of payment of compensation to persons in the occupied territory.

Berlin, alone, had 135,000 persons unemployed Wednesday and the government order that all official service must be curtailed 25 per cent in personnel probably will add 50,000 to the unemployed here.

The new order extends to the railways, the postal service and all other services. All employees over 6' are to be removed on the theory that the government must retain only workers capable of giving maximum service.

RED CROSS CALLED 110 TIMES IN YEAR

Chicago—The American Red Cross was called upon to arminister relief in 110 disasters, killing 249 persons, injuring 991, and making homeless 12,591, from June 30, 1922 to July 1, 1923. The central division of the Red Cross was called on for service in nine disasters in that same period, according to figures made public Wednesday.

Chief among disasters in the central division were the Mississippi river floods in Illinois, the tornado in the St. Croix Falls district of Wisconsin, the Frontier mine entombment of approximately 100 men at Kemmerer, Wyo., and the recent flood at Council Bluffs, Ia.

SUSPECT VENDETTA IN SLAYING OF STATESMEN

The police ascribe the crime to private vengeance.

NEW REPUBLIC IN RHINELAND LOSES GROUND

French Notify Burgomasters Reich Is Still In Control In Province

By Associated Press

Duesseldorf—The young Rhineland republic has lost ground during the last few days, according to the German newspapers, while a French circular letter which the German press publishes shows Separatists have been reminded that they are not recognized by the French as in full control of the Rhineland.

The French communiques Wednesday make no mention of the republic but German reports declare the Separatists have cleared out of Julich, Neuss, Stolberg, Eschweiler and Muenchen Gladbach, and that the territory around these towns has been freed from Republican control. A dispatch to the semi-official Wolff bureau from Euskirchen near Bonn, states that the French superior delegate of the Rhineland commission has addressed a circular letter to all the burgomasters in his district advising them that the Separatist republic has not yet been officially recognized anywhere and that if and when such recognization were accorded the republic the authorities of each concerned will be officially notified. Therefor, the circular letter adds, the old regime stands.

The letter gives notice that the Separatists are not permitted to make requisitions or remove old officials from office, and that as heretofore all requisitions must be countersigned by the superior delegate or the military authorities.

BRITAIN DISAPPROVES

London—Great Britain has formally advised France and Belgium that it can not recognize the Separatist movement in the Rhineland nor the establishment of an individual state in Cologne or other parts of the occupied area.

THINK TEETH ARE CAUSE OF THREE WEEKS' SLEEP

By Associated Press

Denver Colo.—Ralph Teller, 40 years old, of Arvada, Col. son of Chief Justice James H. Teller of the Colorado supreme court, is recovering from a mysterious illness at his home where he has been in an almost continuous slumber for the last three weeks, according to a statement made Tuesday night by his father.

Denver physicians are baffled by the case but agree that his condition is partly due to poison from infected teeth extracted shortly before the illness began.

AGED WOMAN FATALLY HURT IN ACCIDENT

Mrs. Henry Glasnap Walks Against Side Of City Street Car

Mrs. Henry Glasnap, 1086 Eighth-st, was fatally injured in a street car accident at the corner of Lawrence and State-sts at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon. She died in St. Elizabeth hospital at 2:30 Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Glasnap was 74 years old. Her injuries consisted of lacerations of the face, a broken arm, abrasions on the forehead and a fracture of the skull. Death resulted from the last mentioned injury.

The injured woman had been unconscious from the time of the accident. As her face was averted from the oncoming street car, she probably was never aware what struck her. She was very deaf and probably did not hear the car.

According to the reports of witnesses and George Mensinger, motorman, 1210 Lawrence st, Mrs. Glasnap was going east on Lawrence-st, probably from her home, 1086 Eighth-st. She was on the sidewalk of the north side of the street.

Motorman Mensinger first noticed the aged woman as she was about to cross State-st. She was already on the crosswalk. The motorman rang the bell but failed to atract her attention. He threw off the power of the street car, which according to his report was at that time making a speed of 15 to 20 miles an hour. But Mrs. Glasnap, apparently unconscious of her impending danger, kept right on walking. Until her face came in contact with the street car at the right front door.

Mrs. Glasnap was flung down backwards upon the pavement. The street car was brought to a stop in about two car lengths. Motorman Mensinger and Harry Tracy, 234 Carver-st, who was one of the passengers, picked up the woman.

The city ambulance was sent for by Glenn Meidam, 1362 Carver-st, also a passenger. Mrs. Fred Mack, 672 Outagamie-st, also was in the car. The accident was seen by John M. McDonough, 577 State-st, through the window of his home.

This is the second accident to occur at this corner within the space of a few weeks. Lorenz Lutz is now recovering from concussion of the brain as a result of an accident in which he was flung through the roof of a sedan which ran into the street car at this corner.

Mrs. Glasnap was living at the home of her son Edward at 1086 Eighth-st prior to her death. She moved to Appleton from a farm in Center several months ago. Her husband has been dead for a great number of years. Besides her son Edward, four other sons, Henry of Appleton, George and Albert of Center, and John who lives in the west, survive.

Complete funeral arrangements have not yet been made, but the services will be held in St. Edward church of Mackville, with the Rev. George Schemmer in charge.

ARNOLD GETS YEAR AND FINE OF $1000

Madison—Victor H. Arnold, former president of the Madison Bond company was sentenced to serve five years in the federal penitentiary at Ft. Leavenworth, Kansas and to pay a fine of $1,000, by Judge Claude Z. Luse in federal court here Wednesday after being convicted in federal court at Superior of using the mails to defraud.

Arnold was sentenced immediately after federal Judge Luse has overruled a motion for new trial by defense attorneys. It was announced that appeal will be taken to the federal circuit court at Chicago.

The Arnold case attracted considerable attention while in progress at Superior. Arnold was in court Wednesday morning after having come here from Chicago where he has been staying with relatives since his conviction a month ago. It was stated by his attorneys that he has been confined for some time with rheumatism.

WOUNDING OF HERMINE SAID TO BE ACCIDENTAL

By Associated Press

Doorn, Holland — The injury to Princess Hermine's ear, caused by a stone that struck her while she was walking near Doorn castle, is painful but not serious. The culprit has not been found, but an eye witness of the incident believes that the stone was accidentally tossed from a sling with which he saw a boy playing. The Doorn authorities refuse to discuss the affair.

DENVER PRIEST AGAIN NAMED IN DRY VIOLATION

Father Grace Cited In Indictment With Three Other Defendants

By Associated Press

Denver, Colo.—E. H. Mc Clenahan, former director of federal prohibition enforcement in Colorado; Ben Englander, prohibition agent under McClenahan; Father Walter A. Grace, former pastor of the Shrine of St. Anne at Arvada, Colo., and Jack Walsh, his brother-in law, were named in indictments returned Tuesday night by the federal grand jury. Sixty three indictments were returned.

McLenahan and Englander are charged with conspiracy to defraud the government out of $1,500 said to have been realized on the sale of supplies from their office and for the illegal transportation of liquor.

Father Grace and Jack Walsh are charged with the illegal possession and transportation of liquor. The indictments against the latter pair covered virtually the same ground as previous ones under which the priest was convicted and sentenced to two years in the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kas., last July.

CASHIER HEARD IN KLAN BANKRUPTCY

By Associated Press

Atlanta, Ga.—Reading of the deposition of N. N. Furney, cashier at the imperial palace, was continued Wednesday at the hearing of the suit of H. N. Rittenhouse of Philadelphia and others for a receiver for the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan.

Mr. Furney was closely questioned in the deposition taken by the plaintiffs in the suit about advances for expenses to the various field men and how he paid out the money. He said he advanced the money to the various field men on request of Imperial Wizard H. W. Evans in any amount instructed and that he did not know for what purposes the advances were made.

U. S. Officials Hopeful Pact Will Be Signed

Norwich Has First Woman "Lord" Mayor

By Associated Press

Norwich, England — This city has the honor of naming the first woman lord mayor of England. Several small towns have had women mayors, but no city aspiring to the importance of being governed by a lord mayor has hitherto chosen a woman.

The dignity has been bestowed on Miss Ethel Colman, daughter of the late J. J. Colman, M. P. A., member of a mustard making firm.

The city authorities further surprised male office-seekers by appointing Miss MacGregor to the town clerkship, an office usually given to a local lawyer.

Miss MacGregor was chosen over many male applicants.

FREAR EXPECTS NEW WORLD WAR IN NEXT DECADE

Badger Congressman Says Militarism In Europe Increased Since 1918

FRANCE FEARS REPRISALS

Russia Is Most Peaceful Of All Countries: Has Prospects Of Recovery

By Associated Press

Chippewa Falls—Europe today is in a turmoil and it is common prediction there that within ten years another war involving much of that continent might be expected Congressmen James A. Frear of Hudson, declared in an address here Wednesday. Congressman Frear is on his way to Hudson from Washington, having just returned from an extended tour of Europe.

"One brief item speaks for itself regarding the European situation," Congressman Frear said. "Before the great war, all countries including Germany and Austria, were building up huge armies so that when the war began, about 3,750,000 men were under arms. After a war that drained the resources of the world and offered a lesson never to be forgotten, we find today that Germany and Austria are without armies but that the rest of Europe in round numbers, has about 4,250,000 men under arms, or far more than before the war. France has over 700,000; Russia, 610,000; Poland, 270,000; little Czecho-Slovakia has 170,000 while Italy's streets are thronged with soldiers. France is currecntly reported to be maintaining the Polish and Czech armies through loans.

FRANCE FEARS GERMANY

"One of the greatest causes for irritation, of course has been the Ruhr question. Germany's great workhouse of coal and iron is found along the Rhine. France fears that Germany will become powerful and again attack her. The French do not disguise this fear. Europe today as a whole is a hotbed of national rivalries supplemented by jealousies and hatreds.

"In all Europe there is one country that stands independent and unafraid —Russia. It possesses 150,000,000 people, it has more territory and more undeveloped resources than any other country and yet it is the most peaceful to all appearances, and one of the most powerful."

"In the vaults of the state bank of Russia," Mr. Frear added, "we saw $50,000,000 in gold silver, pound notes and American dollars. Russia needs raw materials for her factories and capital for development. I believe that with her great territory, industrious people and undeveloped resources, combined with a liberalizing of her communistic government, Russia soon will occupy a foremost position in Europe."

Foreign Secretary Presents Terms To Imperial Council At London

LONDON MODIFIES DRAFT

Similar Agreements May Be Made With Other Maritime Powers

By Associated Press

London—The final terms which will form the basis for an Anglo American treaty to cope with rum running along the American coast were formally presented to the imperial conference by Lord Curzon, the foreign secretary, Wednesday afternoon. Ambassador Harvey and Lord Curzon agreed to the terms at an hour's conference in the foreign office Tuesday.

The terms laid before the conference were:

"The United States authorities will have the right to search any British ship within the twelve mile limit suspected of carrying liquor for smuggling purposes.

"The United States will formally affirm by treaty the principle of the three mile limit for territorial waters.

"British ships will have the right to carry liquor under seal into the territorial waters of the United States.

WASHINGTON APPROVES

Washington, D. C.—There is every expectation here that the agreement to curb rum running as worked out in London on the basis of suggestions made by Secretary Hughes will meet with the approval of the Washington government and that similar agreements will be made later with the other maritime powers.

Lacking official advices regarding the terms of the treaty draft as it has been modified during the London discussions, officials are withholding formal comment although they appear to believe on the basis of news dispatches that Mr. Hughes' proposals virtually have been accepted without any change in principle.

WALTON TRIAL MAY BE PUT OFF TO NEXT WEEK

Senate Court Indicates Willingness To Grant Continuance

By Associated Press

Oklahoma City — A possible delay of almost a week in the impeachment trial of Governor J. C. Walton loomed Wednesday as the prediction was made in legislative circles that the senate court of impeachment would consent to a brief continuance should the executive request it when the hearing opens Thursday.

In such event, a postponement at least until Tuesday or Wednesday of next week was considered entirely probable.

While there has been no official indication as to what course the governor's counsel will pursue, observers previously had expressed the belief that an application for a continuance would be their first move should the court overrule a general demurrer which they are expected to file to the 22 charges of official misconduct against the executive.

Senate leaders were represented as being desirous of allowing Governor Walton ample time in which to prepare his defense and therefor would not refuse to permit him a few days' grace. Members of the board of managers of the lower house of the state legislature which will act as the prosecution, are said to be similarly inclined.

While final arrangements for the trial were being completed Wednesday a house investigating committee was conducting an inquiry into other departments of the state administration in the course of a general impeachment investigation.

COURT ACQUITS DRIVER ON MANSLAUGHTER TRIAL

Kenosha—Charles Rogers, 42, Racine co farmer, was acquitted of a charge of manslaughter by a jury here in circuit court late Tuesday afternoon. His arrest followed a collision on the night of Aug. 19, between the truck which he was driving and a motorcycle being operated without lights by Clarence Jensen, 14 year old farm hand. Rogers fled from the scene and was not found until three days later. The jury was out two hours and thirty three minutes.

at the hands of the competitors, and that for the injuries threatened damages are not an adequate remedy.

Judge Werner ruled that the principle of the defendants in permitting unrestricted examination of income tax records for private purposes is an "abridgment of the privileges and immunities of the plaintiffs" also "a deprivation of property by the state without a due process of law of taxpayers," contrary to Article 14, Section 1, of the amendments to the United States constitution. "The right of the plaintiff to have his private business affairs protected from unrestricted disclosure, for private purposes, is termed a right of property.

RULE IS TOO BROAD

The wideopen policy of the tax commission in permitting an unlimited right to any person to examine income tax returns filed by taxpayers for private purposes only is held to be a violation of the constitutional rights of the taxpayer filing such return. The rules and regulations sent by the commission to income tax offices are regarded too broad and should be restricted to the following policy:

1. The rights to publish names and income taxes of taxpayers be maintained.

2. That inspection of records be permitted and copies made when needed as evidence in litigation when competent evidence.

3. That all informers having knowledge of facts bearing on the correctness or falsity of a return may examine it in presence of income tax assessors or members of the tax commission, when necessary for the protection of the rights of the state.

4. That such state officers permit citizens to report such information or the names of citizens who fail to make returns, with the assurance that such information will be kept confidential.

5. That the use and purposes of acquiring information on returns must be stated to the assessor of incomes and that no such information or copies of returns for private use shall be given.

MISS BESTLER BUYS HOTEL BEAUTY SHOP

Miss Mary Ann Bestler has purchased the Lydgia Beauty shop and all its equipment from Mrs. Lydgia Shoemaker and will manage the shop. Mrs. Shoemaker, who has been in poor health for several months, will remain at the shop a short time and will then go to Green Bay to live.

The Lydgia shop, which his located in Hotel Appleton, was opened more than two years ago by Mrs. Shoemaker, following her graduation from the Marinello school in Chicago.

Miss Bestler has just recently returned to Appleton to resume her position as an operator in the Lydgia shop. She was one of Mrs. Shoemaker's first operators but went to Des Moines some time ago to go into business with a friend in that city.

NEW MANAGEMENT TAKES CHARGE OF MENASHA HOTEL

Mrs. I. M. Jacobs of Minneapolis became manager of Hotel Menasha on Wednesday to succeed F. J. Hyatt, who resigned as manager of the hotel because of business interests in Ohio which required his attention, he said. The hotel management will be in the hands of a newly formed corporation of which Mrs. Jacobs is president, Mr. Hyatt, vice president and Atty. F. L. Stengler, secretary. The hotel property is owned by Dr. A. B. Jensen.

Mr. and Mrs. Hyatt will leave soon to make their home in Ohio. Mrs. Jacobs has been associated with the hotel business in Minneapolis for several years.

TRUCK BACKS INTO CITY STREET CAR

While backing out from the curbing in front of Laabs & Shepherd's office on College-ave shortly before 9 o'clock Wednesday morning a Ford motor truck owned by Merry Ice Cream company and driven by Ray Walsh collided with a street car headed west on College-ave and driven by George Mersinger.

The vestibule of the street car and left side of the truck were slightly damaged and one of the windows of the vestibule of the street car was broken. Both the car and the truck left the scene of the accident under their own power. No one was injured. The truck backed into the street car track directly ahead of the approaching car.

STOP STATISTICS

Of the 84 cars that came onto College-ave from Richmond-st between 9 and 12 o'clock Monday morning, only 7 did not stop at the arterial sign. That means that more than 92 per cent of the cars did stop. This is a rather higher percentage of observance of the law than people are led to believe. H. F.

THE LONG HARD WINTER

About five o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, I saw the automobile of Gib Horst's orchestra on College-ave. There was snow on the running board and top. It was cold here but it must have been colder somewhere within a short distance from here. H. H.

FEEDING HIS PETS

Monday at noon as I was passing the city park on North-st I saw a man standing in the park near the corner of North and Drew-sts. He was making a peculiar kind of whistle and was shaking an open small paper bag in his hand. Presently five squirrels came running from all directions and kept circling around him, afraid to venture any closer than three feet. Suddenly a sixth squirrel came from across the park, ran up the man's back over his shoulder, and nosed into the bag. He took a nut and ran off to eat it. When the man stooped down and held his bag of nuts near the ground, the others gained courage and took the nuts from his hand. E. Z.

SIGNS WARN CAR DRIVERS TO SLOW DOWN AT CORNERS

Street Department Erects Warning Signals at Busy Intersections

Supplementary signs that are intended to serve almost the same purpose as arterial highway signs have been erected at various corners of the city, under the direction of the street department. At the junction of two arterial highways at Rankin-st and College-ave a sign has been erected to warn Rankin-st motorists to slow down. The sign reads, "Slow Down, Arterial Corner." Both arterial highways terminate at this corner, but the fact that they are arteries leads some motorists to shoot past the corner recklessly. The sign will be a reminder to them.

Signs have been placed at all four corners at Richmond-st and Second-ave. The intersection is a dangerous one, but the streets were not considered important enough to be designated arterial highways. Because two state trunk highways converge here, signs have been erected warning all vehicles to approach cautiously. The signs bear the inscription, "Caution, Dangerous Crossing."

The city engineer has also had additional school signs made and erected at schools where they were lacking. The signs inform the motorist, "Drive Carefully, Children Near." Two such signs have been erected at the First ward school.

All of these signs are made of wood and are quite attractive. They were made in the city at a great saving over the metal signs that are usually from outside firms.

DRIVER "LIGHTING UP" RUNS INTO MOTORTRUCK

While lighting a cigaret at 2:45 Tuesday evening, M. Block of Clintonville temporarily lost control of his Dodge touring car while going west on College-ave and collided with a motor truck owned by M. Belzer, which was parked in front of his place of business at 900 College-ave. The top and the lights of the touring car and the side of the motortruck were damaged.

Pleasure To Pore Over Books With $10 In Sight

Many pupils of public schools of the county have begun reading on Outagamie county's industries and they are not going at it as though they were preparing tomorrow's lessons. They are quite enthusiastic in their search through books and pamphlets, because the prospect of receiving a ten dollar bill always is before them.

In other words two contests have gotten under way, that of the United Commercial Travelers which offers $10 for the best list of products made in Outagamie-co, and that of the chamber of commerce for the best essay on "How Paper is Manufactured."

Prizes in both contests are to be presented on the closing day of the manufacturers and jobbers exposition at the armory Nov. 22, 23 and 24 under auspices of the U. C. T. Manuscripts are to be handed in at the chamber of commerce office not later than Nov. 20.

Pupils of the sixth, seventh and eighth grades of all schools in the county are eligible for the U. C. T. products list competition, and those of all high schools to the paper essay contest.

Principals and teachers are giving their cooperation in urging pupils to enter the contests, not only because of the chance to win $10 for the student's efforts, but because of the educational value in the study of the county's industries. The pupil unconsciously gains a wider consciousness of the importance of his county while thus engaged.

Mrs. Henry Thrun and Mrs. Charles Quetschke and daughter Margy of Chicago, are visiting friends and relatives here.

With everybody working at good pay, and with merchants generally reporting good business, Wall Street wonders why its business is dull.

One reason is that a great many folks throughout the country, who used to buy securities through the stock exchange, are now buying them direct from their home public service companies.

For example, during this month, more than a thousand Wisconsin men and women—nearly three-fourths of them residents of Milwaukee city and suburbs—have bought 7% cumulative preferred shares of Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light Co., direct from the Company.

They prefer to invest their savings here at home, in their big home electric service institution, because they KNOW their money invested in its preferred shares is safe, and its dividends every three months as dependable as bank interest. This is true not only of the big army of small investors, but also of a good many large ones.

Most of our new investors pay all cash for their shares—$100 each. Something less than a third of them buy on payments—$5 down and $5 a month per share. Buying either way, they get 7% on every dollar invested, from the start.

Cash dividends on these shares are paid, by checks mailed to shareholders, on March 1, June 1, September 1 and December 1. Cash dividends on the Company's preferred shares have been paid regularly every three months for the last twenty-three years.

The Company is selling the shares, with the state's approval to finance growth, direct to investors through its own offices and those of its associated companies in this State. If you have money that is earning less than 7%, or that is invested less safely than you wish it to be, or if you would like to get 7% interest on your current savings, it will pay you to talk this matter over with us, or to write for details.

DIETZLER MURDER TRIAL TO START ON JAN. 7, COURT RULES

Alleged Slayer Is Arranged And Judge Is Petitioned For Early Trial

Henry Dietzler of the town of Maine goes back to the county jail to await his trial for the alleged murder of Edwin R. Bedor on Jan. 7, 1924. That date was set by Judge Edgar V. Werner in circuit court following Dietzler's arraignment at 12 o'clock at noon Wednesday. After the date for the trial was fixed the accused was again remanded to Sheriff Otto H. Zuehlke to be confined in the county jail.

The prisoner's arraignment in circuit court followed a petition addressed by him through his attorneys, Keller & Keller, and complaining "that he is restrained of his liberty, confined in the jail for Outagamie co charged with murder in the first degree and held without bail," and praying that he be immediately arraigned.

It was also asked that the clerk of circuit court furnish the defendant's counsel a complete list of all jurors summoned or yet to be summoned. This was asked upon the knowledge that an additional venire is being drawn.

Regarding Dietzler's demand for an immediate trial, Judge Werner announced that for various reasons already discussed the trial could not take place until Monday, Jan. 7.

The prisoner was represented Wednesday by Attorney L. Hugo Keller, the prosecution being represented by John Lonsdorf, district attorney, and Attorney F. J. Rooney, who has been appointed as additional counsel. Mr. Lonsdorf read the formal statement charging Dietzler with "feloniously killing and murdering" Edwin R. Bedor in the town of Maine on Sept. 26. Dietzler has been in jail since that time.

need go beyond conference if we do not desire to do so. But we can not refuse to confer, especially when the situation concerns the markets of the United States so vitally."

EMBARRASSES COOLIDGE

Some of the criticism voiced by other senators was that Mr. McCormick should not have issued his statement immediately after lunching with President Coolidge, for persons abroad might have the impression that this intimacy signified a concurrence by the president in what Mr. McCormick said. Mr. McCormick, on the other hand, prepared his statement last Sunday and wanted Mr. Coolidge to know what he objected to in the present foreign policy of the administration so that opportunity might be given to modify it. Failing to change the president's mind Mr. McCormick issued his statement of dissent. In spite of this explanation, some senators said Tuesday they thought it a mistake for Mr. McCormick to say that the four power pact with Japan had been rendered meaningless by a senate reservation, as that too might be regarded in Great Britain, Japan and elsewhere as a retreat by the United States government from obligations then assumed.

Mr. McCormick was asked by the writer what his objection was to the proposed plan of an international commission of experts if it was assured that the experts were not representatives of the United States government. He said it was his understanding that the experts would be representatives of the American government and would be nominated by it. This, however, is contrary to the impression given at the department of state where the newspapermen have interpreted remarks made there to mean that the experts will not represent the government of the United States but will as private citizens be invited by the reparations commission itself just as any legal or technical advice might be sought from private persons. Under identical circumstances the reparations commission in June, 1922, invited J. P. Morgan to come to Paris, and so also were other international financiers and businessmen invited. The governments did not send any delegates as were not committed by what their nationals said. Nor did anyone in the United States senate raise a finger of objection at the time.

GARY DENIES INTENT TO AFFRONT YOUNG WOMAN

New York—Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation Wednesday emphatically but courteously denied any implied discourtesy to a young woman who Monday accosted him in Wall-st and tried to hand him a pamphlet in which financial leaders' salaries were compared with those of their clerks.

"I had not the slightest idea of what the young woman wanted," Mr. Gary explained. "She startled me and I put up my hand to ward her off. I have no desire to be discourteous at any time, especially to a woman."

PLAN FOR MEETING OF STATE GRANGE

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Ihde of Neenah, were in Appleton Tuesday arranging for the annual convention of the Wisconsin Grange here Dec. 4, 5 and 6. About 150 delegates are expected and large numbers of members of South Greenville Grange also will attend.

Open sessions will be held at the vocational school and the ritualistic work will be conducted at one of the local lodge halls.

The program now is in preparation and will include some of the leading speakers of this section on farm subjects.

300 GUESTS ATTEND TEN PARTIES IN HOTEL HERE

More than 300 special guests were served at Conway hotel on Tuesday when 10 meetings and parties took place in the hotel. According to John Heinzl, who has charge of the dining rooms of the hotel, this is the largest number of meetings and parties ever taken care of in the hotel in one day. There were five at noon and five in the evening including the large number at Rotary club at noon and a party of more than 90 in the evening.

The regular guests at noon and in the evening were served in the coffee shop.

Have Fun But Save Property Police Warn

"Have all the fun you want, but don't destroy any property," that was the substance of a warning issued by Chief George T. Prim of the Appleton police department, to boys who are looking forward to the observance of Halloween Wednesday night.

Members of the police department will turn their backs upon the milder forms of Halloween revelry, but will keep a close watch so that rights of property will not be violated.

Destruction of property, such as removal of doorsteps, tearing up of walks, carting away of loose odds and ends about residences, obstruction of highways and sidewalks, etc., will not be tolerated.

Soaping of windows, an amusement which is often considered a harmless one, is really a serious abuse because the soap usually leaves scratches in the windows that no amount of washing can remove, the chief said.

CLASSIFY ALIENS BARRED FROM VOTE

Conscientious Objectors And Deserters Can't Exercise Franchise

Madison—Persons classified as aliens and not authorized to take part in state elections were named in an opinion delivered Wednesday by the attorney general's department to Secretary of State Fred R. Zimmerman. Questions regarding aliens were submitted to the legal department in connection with preparation of laws and regulations for the next election.

American women lost their citizenship by marrying aliens from Mar. 3, 1907 to Sept. 22, 1922, the opinion stated. This ruling however, is subject to exceptions in case of termination of marital relationship, it was stated.

Alien women gained citizenship in the United States if they married citizens from Feb. 10, 1855 to Sept. 22, 1922.

Persons declared to be aliens and ineligible to citizenship follow:

1. Any alien not a free white person or of African nativity or descent.
2. Alien citizens or subjects of neutral countries in the war with Germany who claimed exemption for liability of military service because of such neutrality.
3. Deserters from military or naval service of the country.

WAKEFIELD VOTES TO KEEP COMMISSIONERS

Wakefield, Mich.—By a vote of 2 to 1, the citizens of Wakefield Tuesday voted to continue the commission form of government which was adopted in 1920. An attempt was made to restore the aldermanic form of government. The final vote was 559 to 276.

START STATEWIDE SEARCH FOR GIRL

Milwaukee—Police in all Wisconsin cities have been asked to locate Miss Clara Dorothy Isaacman, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Isaacman, Milwaukee. The girl disappeared from her home here after receiving a rebuke from her parents last July.

Since that time no clews have been obtained as to the whereabouts of the girl. Her father has but recently become blind and the mother ill. They desire her to return home.

The missing girl is described as five feet, seven inches in height, slender, and weighs 115 pounds. She is a blonde with bobbed light brown hair.

THE GRANGE AND THE FARM PROBLEM

The Greenville, Wisconsin, Grange celebrated its fiftieth anniversary last week. Among the speakers were Oliver Wilson, past master of the National Grange and Charles H. Everett, editor of the Wisconsin Agriculturist. The National Grange is a farm organization that has sought to steer clear of politics and to confine its activities to improvement of agricultural conditions through constructive, not special, legislation, and through the application of business principles to farm economics. Its long existence has not convinced it of the wisdom of departing from its traditional policies. When it comes to the actual improvement of farm conditions locally as well as nationally, the Grange has probably accomplished more than any other organization of its kind, and certainly more than organizations like the Non-Partisan League and other political bodies. We wish to quote from what Mr. Wilson had to say of Grange history:

> The National Grange never asked for special legislation for ourselves that did not offer equal benefits to the entire people. I here make the broad assertion that there is not a farmer in Wisconsin nor in the entire United States who had not received great benefit from the laws that were supported and forced through legislative bodies by the united action of the Grange.
> I am opposed to political parties gaining a foothold in cooperative organizations and I do not believe in a farmers' plank, in a political platform. I do not believe in farmers' parties, lawyers' parties, or political parties connected with any industry. I do not believe in divisions of political parties connected with any industry. I do not believe in divisions of political parties along lines suggested by special interests. All that the Grange intends to do is to see that legislators represent all the people and enforce the principles of free, civil government.
> There never was a time in the history of the country when so many perplexing problems were before the people for solution as today. But I do not believe that everybody is working against the farmer. It is high time that the wall separating the farmer from the business man of the city was torn down.
> I am opposed to the operation of railroads by the government. I am opposed to a farmer-labor party. Labor wants the highest possible wage. You want to get help on your farms as cheaply as possible. For this reason, there is no use of you hooking up with a labor organization to pull its chestnuts from the fire.

Mr. Everett in his address said:

> A movement is on to pass a heavy burden of taxation up to the manufacturers of this state. You must not permit that. If the manufacturers fail on account of high taxation, we shall all go down together. One man I know now pays an income tax of $120,000. There is no income tax in Florida, nor will there be for twenty years to come. While Florida is legislating to invite wealth into the state, we are legislating to drive it out. When we succeed, the full burden of taxation will fall upon us. A great many millions of dollars of industry have already been driven from the state by excessive taxation. Manufacturers cannot suffer from over-taxation unless farmers suffer with them and they cannot prosper unless farmers prosper.

The soundness of these observations can hardly fail to impress itself upon the intelligent farmer, no matter what his political beliefs may be. The exhibition afforded by the last legislature of Wisconsin of the results of attempted farm-labor combination in politics ought to satisfy every farmer of the futility of this movement. The efforts of various blocs in the national congress to obtain special legislation is equally condemnatory of that program. After all is said that can be said on the subject, the fact stands out with unmistakable clearness that special legislation for any particular group or groups of our people is un-American and derogatory to the interests of all the people, and that the effective road to agricultural improvement is first, application of business and cooperative principles to the great farming industry, and second, legislation that is both protective and helpful to all industry and to the interests of all classes in whatever pursuit or occupation engaged.

CHICAGO ANTI-PUBLIC

Most cities would not consider it an asset to be regarded by all their neighbors as selfish and anti-public. If there were any way to avoid this stigma they would seek and apply it. At the present time, however, the city of Chicago on its own initiative appears to be proving that there are exceptions to every rule by inviting exactly this reputation.

Chicago has been requested by the entire lake middle west to abandon its project for enlarging the drainage canal which now uses the water of Lake Michigan as the easiest way to carry away Chicago refuse and filth. It is invited to do no more than other lake cities, like Cleveland have already done. They do not call upon several states to sacrifice lake level to their sewage demands, but build disposal plants and care for it themselves.

Chicago has turned a deaf ear to these appeals. It has hired engineers to contradict the government, and of late it has entertained a senatorial committee with a vast project—at federal expense of course—for using the drainage canal as a waterway link to the Gulf of Mexico. As the Cleveland Plain Dealer well puts it, this "talk of a waterway through the Chicago river is a red herring to kill the stench of sewage." It makes grandiose what is really a very picayune and selfish scheme by which Chicago would get out of its sewage disposal responsibilities at the expense of numerous other cities on the lakes.

An enlarged drainage canal using lake water is not necessary for Chicago. It can build adequate disposal plants if it has the will. The federal government should stand by its guns, holding Chicago to its present legal withdrawal of 4,000 cubic feet of water per second until the residents of that city are forced to do what any sort of public spirit should long ago have inspired them to do. It should not be misled by the deceiving talk about a waterway, which can wait until the sewage element is removed from the issue.

WHAT ROOSEVELT SAID ABOUT PREJUDICE

An unpublished early speech of Theodore Roosevelt has just been placed in print by the New York Times. It was delivered before the Liberal club, a political organization of Buffalo, at a time when Mr. Roosevelt was tremendously interested in the business of practical ward and district politics, trying to drive away the attitude of superciliousness on the part of good men toward the work of getting votes for the right, and to overcome racial and religious discriminations.

Roosevelt had had the appointing of a committee of four in the New York legislature. He had picked three who were Irishmen by birth, and said he was proud of it. He added that one of the closest political and personal friends was a German native down in his district.

"Of course," he commented, "none of these men of German or Irish birth would have been worth their salt had they continued to act after coming here as Irishmen or Germans, or as anything but plain, straight-out Americans. We have not any room here for a divided allegiance. A man has got to be an American and nothing else; and he has no business to be mixing up with questions of foreign politics, British or Irish, German or French, and no business to try to perpetuate their language and customs in the land of complete religious toleration and equality.

"If, however, he does become honestly and in good faith an American, then he is entitled to stand precisely as all other Americans stand, and it is the height of un-Americanism to discriminate against him in any way because of creed or birthplace."

Good homely talk that, long before the days of DeValera, before the World war, before the Ku Klux Klan. The great president's sixty-fifth birthday anniversary was a good time to recall it.

A BROKEN VEIN

The laymen's language is often as meaningless to the doctor as the doctor's is to the layman. For instance, I haven't the remotest idea what kind of wart a "seed wart" is, though I gather from the queries of readers that it is a very common variety. And with 20 years of more or less intensive study of lay medical parlance I am still uncertain what the layman means by "bad complexion," though it must have some definite significance, for so many readers wish to know what would be good for it.

It was only recently that I stumbled on the solution of another lay term which had always mystified me, and I experienced a thrill like that of the chap who achieves the solution of an acrostic. The term was "weak ankles." The difficulty was that I had fallen into the bad habit of thinking of the ankles as a joint, whereas, had I been more attentive, I should have known that "ankles" include pretty much all of the calves or legs up to the tibial tuberosity or thereabouts— and that is what gave "ankles" such a vogue in the recent past. "Weak ankles" are pronated feet, the potential or earlier or functional stage of flat feet.

A broken vein is another lay term which has no certain meaning. Sometimes it signifies a dilated vein or venule, which shows through the skin; sometimes it means a raw spot or ulcer such as the common varicose ulcer on the leg of one with varicose veins; sometimes it means an actual break or rupture of the vein with hemorrhage.

The little dilated venules (they are little veins, not capillaries, which often occur about the cheeks or the wings of the nose) may be obliterated by electrolysis, but a physician or surgeon of skill should be consulted when such treatment is required.

The actual breaking or puncture of a varicose vein an accident much feared by persons with this trouble, is certainly a very rare one. Should it occur, there need be no great bleeding. Elevating the limb above the level of the body and direct moderate pressure upon the bleeding place with a clean folded handkerchief or pad of gauze or the finger will stop the bleeding; the pad may be kept upon the spot by a simple bandage or a few strips of adhesive plaster. The use of a tourniquet is of little value in the control of such hemorrhage, since the blood flows through the vein to the bleeding point from below and if the tourniquet were applied below the bleeding point the blood would flow back from above because the valves in varicose veins are incompetent to prevent backflow.

As a matter of practical fact, the layman should resort to direct pressure to control nearly any wound bleeding; not until such method fails should he attempt to apply a tourniquet or "twsiter" to a limb, for the shutting off of the circulation by a tourniquet or "twister" endangers the vitality of the limb.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS— Tobacco And Sweat

Please tell me also what sweat is composed of. Any information you can give me on sweating will be gratefully received.

Answer—Sweat is composed of water chiefly, with traces of urea, uric acid, creatinin, aromatic oxyacids, ethereal sulphates of penol and skatol, serum and albumin, though not sufficient of any of these to be of importance. Sweat is 99.5 per cent water, about 0.3 per cent common salt, and the other 0.2 per cent alkaline sulphates and phosphates and traces of fatty acids (which give the characteristic odor) and the several substances mentioned. So the only important substance eliminated from the body in the sweat is water. In a fast round of boxing or a few rounds a man may excrete three pounds of water.

FILL IN THE BLANKS

The city council will have a hard time selecting a man to fill the vacancy for alderman in the Third ward. The Kolyum has thoroughly investigated the situation and recommends that the city fathers pass on the qualifications of the candidates on the basis of the following questionaire:

State full color (Black, white or indifferent) .....
Give name and all aliases .....
Are you married or single? .....
Why? ..... (Complete answers required).
Is there any insanity in your family? (Answer should be yes, no, or don't give a hang)
Do you believe in the Cherry-st bridge? .....
Have you any money in the bank? If so, where the heck did you get it?
Give your great-grandmother's maiden name .....
Also state what was her name before she married .....
Does your wife play on the piano? .....
What effect does it have on the rent? .....
Are you troubled with cold feet? .....
Whose? .....
Did you ever meet Joe Bayer? .....
Under what circumstances? .....
Do you read Heard, Seen and Imagined? .....
If so, what excuse have you to offer? .....
Do you drink? .....
Where do you get the stuff? ..... (Give details).
Does your wife take in washing? .....
Have you suggested it to her? .....
State results and name the hospital. .....
If you really want this job, state who, when, why, where and what .....
What do you consider a fair salary for a good alderman? .....
For yourself? .....

He Thought It Was a Sanitarium

The Post-Crescent leased wire carried a story about a squirrel playing around the capitol, blowing out the fuses and electrocuting itself. Comment on what must have been the original attraction for that little animal is so general that many a man at Washington must feel a little self-conscious.

ROLLO.

WHAT IS GOING ON IN THE WORLD

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

Prohibition, the drys say, has failed. Yes, the drys. The wets say so, too, of course. But they never said so more emphatically than it was said at the meeting the dry leaders held in Washington to decide what to do.

According to the dry investigators who reported to the meeting:

Drink conditions were improving in the wet days just before prohibition; with prohibition, they slumped and have been getting worse ever since.

WHERE THEY DIFFER

But the drys don't favor abandoning prohibition.

Wets say it can't be enforced because the country doesn't want it.

Drys say the country does want it; the reason it isn't enforced is, officials don't try. They blame politics. That is, they say in many places enforcement's in the hands of wets who get their jobs through political pull.

GOVERNOR PINCHOT'S PLAN

Pinchot of Pennsylvania is most outspoken among the dry governors. He puts it up to President Coolidge to take "personal charge" of enforcement.

LET GEORGE DO IT

Strangely, Pinchot's supporters are governors of wet states—Smith, New York; Ritchie, Maryland; Silzer, New Jersey; Cox, Massachusettes; Morrison North Carolina; Blaine, Wisconsin; Parker, Louisiana. Their attitude is it's a federal law; let the federal government enforce it, if it can.

Governor Allen of Kansas is typical of the drys. He says his state doesn't expect the president to be a policeman; if the states are otherwise helpless, let them use the militia. But as for military force, adds Governor Hinkle, New Mexico, the whole army and navy can't enforce what the people don't want.

The drys urge a law punishing liquor buyers, as well as bootleggers.

WHAT COOLIDGE ASKS

President Coolidge doesn't seem to want the "buck" passed to him. He pledges the federal government to do its part, but wants more co-operation from the states.

GERMANY AND FRANCE

Chancellor Stresemann abruptly announces Germany hereby stops paying anything more to France. He held off, he says, because he wanted to prove first that France isn't after payments, but Germany's ruin. He declares he's proved this by unconditionally surrendering in the Ruhr, giving France everything she asked, but it hasn't helped any. Now that the world knows the facts, he adds, he's acted, driven by "absolute necessity."

This was a statement to the press, not a communication to France, but the latter seems sure to follow.

Then will come the crisis. Nobody knows just what form it will take.

CIVIL WAR THREAT

Civil war seems imminent among the Germans.

In the Rhineland, the party which wants to secede from Germany has proclaimed an independent Rhineland republic in several important cities. The movement doesn't cover the whole Rhineland yet but is spreading. It really is under French protection, so the Berlin government can't do much.

The German states, when on good terms, have ministers at each other's capitals, and royalist Bavaria and communistic Saxony have broken these relations, as countries do before going to war.

The central government at Berlin has threatened armed force against Saxony and Saxony has defied it. Bavaria refuses official relations with the central government's military dictator.

The Question Box

(Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing The Appleton Post-Crescent Information Bureau, Frederick J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. This offer applies strictly to information. The Bureau cannot give advice on legal, medical and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor to undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Write your question plainly and briefly. Give full name and address and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.)

Q. Is fish as nutritious as meat? R. T.

A. Pound for pound fish contains as much protein as meat, and in some cases more. Therefore affords the same class and grade of food material as beef, mutton, and pork.

Q. What are "sky ponds?" J. U.

A. Sky ponds are those wholly or partly dependent upon local precipitation for their supply.

Q. What breeds of horses are called draft breeds? B. M.

A. The Percheron, Belgian, Clydesdale, Shire and Suffolk are known as draft breeds.

Q. Did the women of ancient Egypt cover their faces? H. N.

A. They did not wear veils.

Q. Is there any way of seeing particles that are not visible through a microscope? W. F. H.

A. There is an instrument called the ultra-microscope which makes visible bodies which are much smaller than can be seen with the microscope. It does this not by magnification but by very bright illumination. The bodies are seen only as bright specks. It is claimed that some of the largest molecules can be seen separately by this method. These molecules contain a large number of atoms, a hundred or so. From the motions of these ultra-microscopic particles their masses can be estimated.

Q. Why can't the stamps on stamped envelopes be cut off and used? G. E. M. C.

A. The law provides that to be valid for postage Government stamped envelopes must be used to enclose letters. Obviously the stamp when separated from the envelope cannot be so used. In other words, the envelope is part of the stamp, and the latter is not good for postage when removed from it. Provision is made however, for redemption in other stamps of stamped envelopes spoiled in addressing or otherwise made unserviceable, provided they are presented at the post office by original owner in a substantially whole condition.

Q. What is the weight of the average elephant? E. D. S.

A. The average weight of an elephant is about 8,000 pounds or 4 tons. The weight of a large elephant is about 5 tons.

Q. How can glace fruit be made? J. G.

A. Place in a kettle any fruit you desire to glace and add enough water in which to boil it. Now add sugar, allowing 5 pounds to to each 2 quarts of water, set on the fire and cook to a thread or until a little between your fingers will just barely string out an inch and a half or so. Remove from the fire and grain the syrup on the side of the kettle until cloudy, then remove the fruit with a fork and lay on sieve to dry.

Q. Where is the oldest theater in America? L. E.

A. The Walnut Street Theater opened in 1808 in Philadelphia, is the oldest theater in this country. It has changed very little in outward appearance since it was erected.

Unusual People

RUSS CAPTAIN U. S. SOLDIER

New York — When Russian rubles were worth something, Tcouvaidji, newly enlisted private in the Service Company, Sixteenth U. S. Infantry, at Governor's Island, was heir to 12,000,000 of them. His father formerly was Russia's furniture king.

TCHOUVALDJI

During the first part of the war, Tchouvaidji was captain under the czar. He was wounded four times at the Russian front. Kerensky's raiders captured him, and after Kerensky's fall, the Bolsheviks sought him for further imprisonment.

But Tchouvaidji got away. By selling some of their valued trinkets his mother and he succeeded in gaining passage to America.

Now he's just as proud a soldier for Uncle Sam as he was as captain for the czar.

Many Surprises For Guests At Church Party

It is rumored that some family skeletons may be revealed when members of First Methodist church get together for their All-Church supper and party on Thursday evening. For weeks the Social union has been planning this party.

Every member of the 12 circles has been notified and tags bearing the number of the circle to which she belongs have been sent her so that each member of her family may be identified with that particular group.

Each circle is to have one stunt, and it is said, that the men of the Young Married Peoples group, not to be outdone, are planning a surprise. Many college students, associate members of the church and Sunday school, have been invited. Carl S. McKee and George C. Nixon will lead in a sing.

Each family is to bring its own basket supper, dishes and silver. Coffee will be furnished.

PARTIES

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Meidam entertained 12 friends at a Halloween party Tuesday evening at their home on Carver-st. Dinner was served at 6 o'clock, after which games were played. Prizes were won by Harold Babb, Mrs. Lloyd Schindler and Mrs. C. A. Ebert.

A Halloween party was given by Miss Florence Losselyoung at her home, 1135 Lorain-st, Tuesday evening. Games and music occupied the evening. Prizes were won by the Misses Marie Williams, Arline Siglinsky and Agnes Muggenthaler. Other guests included the Misses Leona Captain, Margaret Schilling and Hazel Hammen.

Mrs. Elmer O'Keefe and Mrs. E. A. Walthers entertained 40 guests at the home of Mrs. Walthers, 1119 Second-st, Tuesday afternoon. A luncheon was served at 1 o'clock after which bridge was played. Prizes were won by Mrs. Martin Peeters, Mrs. Lee Thompson and Mrs. James H. Balliet.

Professor and Mrs. Percy Fullinwider and Joseph Zickler of Lawrence conservatory presented a musical program at a tea given at the Conway hotel by Mrs. O. N. Zepherin and Mrs. C. H. Emder at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Ninety-three guests were entertained by Mrs. Emder and Mrs. Zepherin.

Armory G will be transformed into a woods with all the brilliant coloring of autumn on Friday evening when the sports council of Appleton Womans club gives another community dance. The arrangements for the party are being made by the members of sports council with out assistance and the council will act as chaperones with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Durdell and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Schwenke. The Collegians will furnish the music for dancing. A special invitation is being extended to all homecoming visitors to be present at the dance.

Horseback riders delivered invitations to all eligible persons for a tea from 3 to 5 o'clock Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Eva Abegail Russel. "ye second house from where ye Alton and Meade roads do cross." The invitations were written on old-fashioned brown paper in colonial style, folded and sealed with wax. As many as possible of the members will wear colonial costumes. The hostesses are to be Mrs. Russell and Mrs. Roy Davis.

A number of Neenah and Menasha friends of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Hyatt of Menasha entertained for them at dinner at Conway hotel on Tuesday evening. The party was in the nature of a farewell for Mr. and Mrs. Hyatt, who are leaving for Ohio in a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Campi of Chicago entertained a few friends at dinner at Conway hotel on Tuesday evening. Covers were laid for 10 guests.

Epsilon Alpha Phi sorority celebrated its founders day with a banquet at Conway hotel Tuesday evening. Patronesses and members of the original charter group of the sorority were guests of honor. A program followed the banquet at which speeches were made by several of the members of the group.

A group of boys and girls had a party at the Playhouse of Appleton Womans club on Tuesday evening. The girls in the party have formed a supper club and will meet at the clubhouse on Monday evenings. Miss Martha Chandler and Mrs. C. W. Cross were the chaperones at the party, which is the first of a series which this group will have for their friends.

Mrs. Albert Haferbecker was pleasantly surprised at her home on the Freedom-rd Tuesday evening by a group of friends on the occasion of her birthday anniversary. Games and Halloween "stunts" constituted the evening's entertainment.

The Christian Endeavor society of Emmanuel Evangelical church gave a Halloween party Tuesday evening on the farm of Eichman Brothers in Greenville.

Classes of the junior department of the Emmanuel Evangelical Sunday school were entertained at a Halloween party Monday evening at the church. A supper was served followed by Halloween games.

A large crowd Tuesday evening attended the box social at Idlewild school, town of Freedom, of which Miss Gertrude Rolm is teacher. The school cleared $28.65 which will be used for purchasing school supplies.

Spooky Party At Playhouse For Club Girls

All the girls of the recreation department of Appleton Womans club and any other girls in Appleton who wish to celebrate Halloween with spooks and witches, black cats and stunts, are invited to be at Appleton Womans club Playhouse at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening. All manner of spooky things and games have been provided for the evening.

Members of the ukelele club are requested by Miss Marie Heineman to be present at the party and to bring their ukeleles. Each club and class will put on some of the entertainment for the evening.

CLUB MEETINGS

J. C. Ryan will speak to the members of the beauty course of Appleton Womans club at the clubhouse on Thursday evening on the choice of pictures. Mr. Ryan's talk is one in the series on beautifying the home.

The sewing club of Appleton Womans club had its first supper meeting at the clubhouse on Tuesday evening. In order to save time for their sewing, the members of the club decided to eat their evening meal at the clubhouse rather than take the time to go home after work.

Board of directors of the Appleton Womens club will hold their regular business meeting at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon. The board is to meet in the club rooms on Oneida-st.

Womens Christian Temperance union will meet at 2.30 Thursday afternoon at the home of Miss Ida Hopkins, 488 North-st. After the business session, a report of the state convention held at Portage will be given.

Appleton Motor Boat club will hold a meeting at the club house Thursday evening which will be preceded by a supper. Routine business will be considered.

The Misses Ruth Duwel and Viola Miller entertained the C. C. club at a Halloween party at Miss Duwel's home on Appleton-st. Halloween games and stunts furnished the entertainment. The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Julia Groat, 1014 Atlantic-st.

Thursday club will meet with Mrs Lewis Welson, 602 Lincoln-st, Thursday afternoon. Schafkopf will be played.

St. Agnes Guild met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. K. Wolter, 467 Alton-st. Plans were made for a parish conference supper, which will be held in the parish hall of All Saints church Monday evening.

Mrs. Oscar Miller, 884 Fox-st, entertained the Four Leaf Clover club at her home Tuesday afternoon. Prizes at schafkopf were won by Mrs. Emma Casper and Mrs. Arthur Wetzel. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Herman Selig on John-st.

Mr. Hildebrandt, former supervisor of assessments, is the only new member on the board.

How to Stop Sour Stomach

Chronic With Many People—Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Bring Quick Comfort—Sweeten and Stop Acid, Sour Risings and Such Dyspeptic Distress

When the fact is considered that even careful people, those who follow diet rules, get attacks of indigestion, no argument is needed to recommend the best means of relief. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are used by lawyers, doctors, teachers, by business men, high livers, society women, industrial workers, clerks, and the worst abused stomachs in the world, those of a host of travelers.

For thirty years people have learned that they may eat what they like or what is set before them, and no matter what the condition of the stomach, if due to dyspepsia, these wonderful tablets stop the gassiness and sour risings, they give the stomach the alkaline effect which overcomes acidity and thus they either avoid distress after eating or else they quickly relieve it. Be fortified. Get a 60-cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at any drug store and arm yourself against indigestion. adv.

TUT! TUT-ANKH-AMEN

New York—The beautiful Mrs. Claudia Carlsted Wheeler, former actress-wife of Albert Gallatin Wheeler, the New York banker, all aflutter, has just returned from Europe where, she reports, a handsome devil-dashing Egyptian prince tried to woo her. Claudia turned the poor chap down and now fears he may be following her. Gracious sakes alive!

EXPECT BIG CROWD OF BOYS AT GHOST PARTY

Arrangements are completed for the boys Halloween party at the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday evening. There is every indication the attendance will be larger and that more boys will participate in the contests than at any of the previous Halloween parties.

The program is so arranged that the boys will be kept busy from the time they enter the building until they leave it. Swimming contests, group contests in the gymnasium and a motion picture show will occupy the evening. The boys will be in three groups according to age.

Industrial Forum

An industrial forum committee organization supper will be held at the Y. M. C. A. at 6.30 Wednesday evening at which a program will be outlined for the coming winter. Twenty-four committeemen representing 20 firms will assist in planning the work. A cafeteria supper will be served.

Pavloska Will Sing Tonight For Elk Lodge

Elk lodge has met with unusual success in sale of tickets for the recital at Lawrence Memorial chapel at 8.15 Wednesday evening by Irene Pavloska, mezzo soprano of Chicago Opera company. The house is almost sold out, but good seats still are to be had.

The members have made a liberal charity fund possible for the lodge by selling three tickets each for the concert by the opera star. This method was used this year instead of a minstrel show or other local entertainment.

Miss Pavloska will sing a most attractive group of numbers, concluding with an aria from the opera Carmen. She will be accompanied at the piano by Hubert Carlin.

LODGE NEWS

An adjourned meeting of the Catholic Order of Foresters will take place at Forester home Thursday evening. The members will pass on new members for the joint initiation with other courts in this vicinity.

Beavers will meet at 8 o'clock Thursday evening in South Masonic hall at their regular meeting. Business problems will be discussed.

Pythian knights and sisters, are making elaborate plans for a Harvest moon party, the first of a series of dinner-dances, to be given in Castle hall on Nov. 17. The committee in charge plans to make the party an enjoyable affair, and ask that all reservations be in by Saturday, Nov. 10. Valley Country club orchestra will furnish music for the occasion.

The Ladies Auxiliary of Eagles No. 574, held its weekly meeting Tuesday afternoon in Eagle hall. About 35 members of the organization were present. It was planned to make the first Tuesday of every month visiting day. After the business session, schafkopf and dice were played, prizes at dice going to Mrs. James Moore and Mrs. H. Keller, while the winners at schafkopf were Mrs. George Limpert, Mrs. August Knoll and Mrs. Paul Sell.

The regular meeting of Moose lodge was held Tuesday evening in Moose home on Morrison-st. Arrangements were made for an initiation which is to take place next Tuesday. All initiatory work will be done by the local degree team.

BANKER REPORTS MIDWEST FARMERS ARE PROSPEROUS

By Associated Press

Kansas City—Reduction in freight rates in farm production in proportion to the decrease in the value of these products was advocated Wednesday by Walter Cravens president of the Kansas City Joint Stock Land bank as the most needed step for the relief of farmers. He said however, that agriculture in the middle west is far from a collapse.

Mr. Cravens pointed to the fact that farmers of Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma who have borrowed nearly $40,000,000 from the bank he represents are making their interest payments regularly, as evidence of the relatively stable condition of the industry.

STOMACH TROUBLE GET QUICK RELIEF

ENTERTAIN STATE REALTY OFFICERS

General Outlook Is Good, Appleton Board Told By Peterman And Haigh

Exchange of ideas with other boards was enjoyed by members of Appleton Real Estate board at a conference here Tuesday with Thomas Peterman of Curtiss, state president of the Wisconsin Association of Real Estate Brokers, and F. G. Haigh of Green Bay, state executive secretary.

Mr. Peterman and Mr. Haigh have been making a tour of the state conferring with various local boards and checking up on real estate conditions. While there is a slump in some lines of activity the general outlook is one of optimism, these men declared.

The program for the February state convention of realtors in Madison was discussed and the Appleton men were urged to attend. It will be one of the largest and best state gatherings, it was said.

The visitors had luncheon at noon with the Appleton board at Conway hotel and left in the afternoon for Green Bay, where real estate boards of three counties were to have a meeting.

TAX CHIEF ORDERS STRICT PENALTIES IN EVASIONS

By Associated Press

Washington, D. C. — Commissioner Blair today issued an order to collectors of internal revenue to invoke penalties hereafter in all cases of improperly executed sales tax returns by merchants. The ruling affects every mecantile establishment selling taxable articles and was regarded here as another step in the program of the bureau of internal revenue to bring about more rigid enforcement of all items of the tax laws, many of which admittedly were given little attention in the press of work during and after the war.

GOOD HEALTH SECRET OF BEAUTY

Beauty lies in the care a woman bestows upon herself and in keeping at bay those dread ailments peculiar to her sex, which drag her down and leave telltale traces upon her countenance. Sparkling eyes, the elastic step and a clear complexion never accompany organic troubles. Distressed expressions, a sallow complexion, dark circles under the eyes, lassitude, headaches, and mental depression are the telltale symptoms of women's ailments. Women so troubled should not lose a day in taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, the most successful remedy known to overcome woman's ills and restore health and beauty. adv.

SHIP OUT HALF OF SUGAR BEET CROP

Hauling And Loading Of Beets Is Main Activity Of Greenville Farmers

Special to Post Crescent

Greenville—Hauling of sugar beets for shipment to Green Bay and Menominee, Mich., has been the chief activity of a large number of farmers here for the last few weeks. About half of the crop now has been loaded and shipped.

Milk and Cream Delivered Daily

EVERY MORNING AT YOUR DOOR

OUR PRODUCTS

Our products are of the finest quality that we can obtain. They are pure, even purer than you would have them yourself, because, we have spent thousands of dollars for modern scientific machinery that will enable us to be absolutely sure that the products we handle have gone through every necessary procedure to make them pure and safe.

Our milk—although it comes from the finest and healthiest herds, is not ready for your table until it is refrigerated, bottled and brought to you. This process entails handling and rehandling. Thorough pasteurization and sanitary handling is the one method of assuring you of pure, safe milk.

Our dairy products are the purest and most sanitary that we can obtain and further more they are handled under the most sanitary conditions.

OUR SERVICE

The demand for Valley Dairy Products Company Milk and Cream has grown so strong, calls from every part of the city asking for our products that in order to give our patrons the highest type of service possible, we are establishing wagon routes.

We are now having built, and they will be ready this week, two modern special built milk wagons. These wagons are different than anything you have ever seen in Appleton. A careful inspection and study of the wagons of the larger city dairy companies have given us the foundation of the plans from which our wagons are built.

Clean, sanitary, delivery of all our products to any part of the city, will commense Monday morning, November 5th. We advise you to place your orders now.

RUHR DISCUSSION WILL OPEN WINTER SEASON OF FORUM

University Of Wisconsin Man To Present French Side Sunday Evening

Prof. Fitman B. Potter of the University of Wisconsin, will present the French version of the invasion of the Ruhr at the first meeting of the Peoples forum in Lawrence Memorial chapel Sunday evening. The program starts at 7:30 with musical numbers and the speaker begins at 8 o'clock. A collection will be taken to defray the expenses.

On the Sunday following Attorney Robert Wild of Milwaukee, will present the German version of the Ruhr invasion. All controversial subjects on the forum will be considered from all angles.

The forum program has been completed except for two numbers. No speaker has been secured to discuss the miners' side of the coal controversy and neither has there been a speaker engaged who will present the arguments against the world court. The world court discussion will conclude the forum session.

Following is the program as arranged by Dr. H. E. Peabody, chairman of the program committee:

Invasion of the Ruhr.—
- November 4—French side — Professor Pitman B. Potter, University of Wisconsin.
- November 11—German side—Robert Wild, Attorney, Milwaukee.

The Volstead Prohibition Act. Shall it be Maintained or Made More Liberal.

STORES TO TRIM FOR HOMECOMING

Retail Bureau Indorses Idea, Plans For Institute, Accepts Ad Club Offer

Letters were sent to all merchants of the retail division of the chamber of commerce Wednesday by J. H. Neller, chairman, asking them to decorate their stores and store windows in the colors of Lawrence and Ripon colleges for the home coming in connection with the football game Saturday.

This was done on recommendation of the retail division at a meeting Tuesday at the chamber of commerce rooms, at which the district advertising meeting, the retail institute and, the Triumph Stove & Heater Co. matters also were discussed.

An invitation was presented by Appleton Adverusing club asking the merchants and their advertising men to attend the meeting of the Northwestern Wisconsin Advertising club here Nov. 8. The offer was accepted and retailers were urged to attend the sessions.

Arrangements also were made for promoting attendance at the institute of merchandising and advertising which James W. Fisk, merchandising counsel of the Milwaukee Journal, will conduct here. The institute will be held Nov. 12 and 26, and Dec. 10, with meetings for salespeople at the vocational school and luncheons for merchants and sales executives at Conway hotel.

Support of the movement to establish a plant here for the Triumph Stove & Heater Co. was discussed informally and sentiment indicated that most of the merchants were willing to give what they could.

Y. M. C. A. GETS BIDS ON EQUIPMENT FOR DORMITORY

The building committee of the Y. M. C. A. has placed an order for the equipment of the 18 rooms of its new addition to local merchants who submitted bids. The cost of the equipment was approximately $1600 or $89 a room. The successful bidders were Geenen Dry Goods Co., Saecker-Diddenrich company, Pettibone-Peabody company and Brettschneider Furniture company. Chairs and rockers are to be purchased from Appleton Chair company through a local dealer.

Committee Meeting

Two committees of the county board of supervisors will be in session Thursday, Nov. 1. The building and grounds committee and the county printing committee will transact business.

PARENTS INVITED TO VISIT SCHOOLS

Grade School Principals Make Plans For National Education Week

Parents of grade school students are being cordially invited to visit school during American Education week, Nov. 18 to 24, according to plans made at a meeting of grade school principals on Tuesday afternoon. While the principals and teachers of the schools are always pleased to have the parents visit school, few parents avail themselves of the opportunity to learn first hand the way things are taught to their children in school.

No visiting hours have been set and no special program has been planned, but during the week which has been set aside for national attention to education parents are urged to come in at any time to see the children at work. Each year, the principals and teachers urge the parents to come to school often, but few avail themselves of the opportunity. It is hoped by the educators that many of the parents will plan now to take part of a day or even part of a half day during the third week in November to see how their children study.

PROF. ORR WILL SPEND WINTER IN CALIFORNIA

Prof. and Mrs. F. W. Orr have taken an apartment at Duarte, Calif., and will remain there for several months, according to word received here by friends. They have made 6000 miles in their car since they left Appleton and claim that their garage bill has been less than $5 and their gasoline bill only $50.60.

From the time they left Appleton until they reached California, they camped out every night and had only one meal in a restaurant. They have found their camping equipment delightful and felt no need for the modern conveniences of hotels. They spent several weeks in Yellowstone park and have taken their time in crossing the country. Prof. Orr, who is head of the department of public speech at Lawrence is on a leave of absence because of poor health.

HOG CHOLERA CAUSING HEAVY LOSS IN WEST

Matt Jaekels, who has returned from a several months visit in North and South Dakota and Montana, says that an epidemic of hog cholera has made its appearance in South Dakota and is causing a great loss to farmers. At first very little attention was paid to the disease, but it is now being fought by federal and state officers. Nearly all the hogs have been vaccinated. Crops were good in South Dakota, but below the average in North Dakota, he said.

TWO CANDIDATES FOR LAABS' JOB

George T. Richards And F. X. Bachman Recommended By Their Friends

A successor to A. W. Laabs formerly alderman of the Third ward, who has moved his family to Elmwood, will be appointed at the next meeting of the common council, Wednesday, Nov. 7. So far as is known the only candidates are George Richards, who has filed his application for appointment at the city hall, and F. X. Bachmann.

The appointment will be made for the time intervening between now and the spring election at which time Mr. Laabs' term was to have expired.

ON THE SCREEN

COLLEEN MOORE STARS IN "THE HUNTRESS"

In "The Huntress," a First National picture which closes its engagement at the Elite tonight, Colleen Moore has made it doubly one of the most delightful roles of her whole screen career.

In this picture the winsome young star plays the part of a vivacious care-free white girl who has been reared as an Indian. She learns that she is white and then "the fun begins" when she decides to win a white husband.

She kidnaps a bashful city youth, who has come into the country prospecting. Her efforts to hold him and finally win him, naturally create a series of highly humorous and at time dramatic situations.

The picture is most unique and will prove a refreshing departure from the ordinary run of plays.

CAREWE'S "THE BAD MAN" COMING TO ELITE SOON

The film version of one of the most successful stage plays of the past decade will come to Appleton beginning tomorrow, when "The Bad Man," an Edwin Carewe-First National production, opens at the Elite Theatre.

Advance reports concede this to be one of the outstanding productions of the year. Holbrook Blinn, the star of the original stage version of the play, enacts the same role in the film version. Charles A. Sellon, who was also a member of the original stage cast, is associated with Blinn. Miss Enid Bennett, of "Robin Hood" fame, appears as the heroine and adds new laurels to her already long list of successes. Among the other well-known persons in the cast are Jack Mulhall, Walter McGrail, Teddy Sampson, Harry Meyers, Stanton Heck, Thomas Delmar, Frank Lanning and Peter Venzuella.

"The Bad Man" is a story of Arizona. Blinn, in the title role, finds he is a friend of the woman whose cattle he has stolen, and in return for saving the life of the bandit attempts to settle the financial and love affairs of his friends. The manner in which he accomplishes it makes one of the most absorbing screen stories of the year.

Carewe has produced the picture literally as it was written as a stage play by Porter Emerson Browne. It was possible only because the play, as originally written by Porter Emerson Browne, had all the motion picture possibilities when it was written as a stage play.

Carewe has done even better work in producing "The Bad Man" than he did in "Mighty Lak a Rose," and "The Girl of the Golden West," so it is understood.

The play was scenarioized by John Lynch and Finis Fox. Wallace Fox assisted Carewe in directing and Sol Polito is responsible for the camera work.

"THE LOVE FLOWER" A WONDERFUL STORY

Everyone seems to agree that next to perfection in production, the chief requisite for a perfect motion picture is a real honest-to-goodness story. It is that type of a dramatic tale that David W. Griffith has based his photo drama on for United Artists release, and this wonderfully dramatic production, "The Love Flower" will be a feature at the New Elite theatre today and Thursday.

The story has to do with Stella Bevan whose fatal actions from serving an undeserved sentence. It seems to find herself a social alien in her home town and the breach between herself and unsympathetic wife is widened by Stella's attention and the wife's hatred for his daughter by his first wife.

REMODELED SCHOOL IS TO BE DEDICATED FRIDAY

Dedicatory exercises will be held Friday evening in the Tapes school to dedicate the remodeled building. The school has been remade into a four room school. A school museum has been arranged for the occasion and A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools will give a talk. Miss Elma Snell will have charge of the upper grades and Miss Mabel Stoll will teach the primary grades.

State Tax Collected In County Is $10,000 Less Than Year Ago

$20,000 Reduction In Levy For University Cuts Burden—Increase In Special Taxes

State taxes for Outagamie co will be nearly $10,000 less than those levied on the county last year. Last year the decrease in state taxes over the year 1921 was about $34,000.

The total state tax to be collected in Outagamie co according to the apportionment received in the office of John E. Hartschel, county clerk, is $118,287.92, as compared with $132,255.70 in 1922 and $166,316.88 in 1921. These figures include the special charges for state charitable and penal institutions, but do not include special charges upon individual municipalities and school districts.

The state tax proper for the county is $103,661.29 this year, as compared with $118,967.47 in the year 1922, and $150,699.56 in 1921. Special charges for charitable and penal institutions this year amount to $9,636.98, which is slightly more than $3,000 in excess of the special charges levied last year. Special charges in 1922 amounted to $6,668.48, and in 1921 were $6,617.

LOANS ARE SMALLER

Outagamie co school districts will have $766.94 less to pay this year on school loans than were paid the previous year. The districts this year pay $10,594.29 of the principal and $3,127.68 as interest or a total of $13,-721.97. Last year the principal and interest levied was $14,590.52, and in the year 1921 private $15,021.76.

The 1923 general state tax, subdivided, is levied for the following purposes: For interest on certificates of indebtedness, $2,587.55, as compared with $2,728.12 of the year previous. high schools, $5,478.55, as compared with $3,820.02; graded schools, $3,-949.75, over against $3,796.50; state university, $13,944.57, as against $13,-204.00; normal schools, $15,033.51, as against $14,757.37; common schools, $88,372.23 as against $85,184.37.

A cut of practically $20,000 is noted in the state university tax which is a reduction of nearly two thirds from the university tax of last year.

SPECIAL CHARGES

Following are the special charges upon the county for charitable and penal purposes, compared with the special charges of last year: For care of the chronic insane, $622.35 this year against $618.94 last year; Northern hospital, $3,404.06, compared with $2,778.65; state hospital, $16.95, no levy last year; Northern Wisconsin Colony, $1,934.43, versus $1,337.55; industrial school for boys, $435.55 against $392.45; tuberculosis sanatorium, $169.15, against $105.22; county tuberculosis sanatoria, $151.65 against $28.20; industrial school for girls, $30 against $120.72; tuberculosis camp and farm, $745.81 against $16.97; Wisconsin general hospital, $1,955.55 against $950.55.

A special charge of $60.14 is levied upon the town of Oneida for an inspection made by the state tax commission on May 1, 1923.

A list of the special charges on school districts for principal and interest on school loans is as follows: No. 9, Grand Chute, $283.33 plus $120; No. 1, Osborn, $450 plus $72; Joint No. 3, Seymour, Osborn and Oneida, (university) $450 plus $72; No. 5 Black Creek, $300 plus $105; No. 5, Cicero, $100 plus $7; Jt. 1, Bovina and Shiocton, $146.66 plus $10.27; No. 4, Cicero, $120 plus $21; Jt. 8, Freedom and Kaukauna, $100 plus $17.50; No. 6, Bovina (Normal) $142.86 plus $25.57; No. 7, Seymour, (final) $300 plus $12, No. 8, Oneida, $150 plus $80; No. 2, Maine, $200 plus $56; No. 2, Deer Creek, $200 plus $64; No. 4, Oneida, $200 plus $64; U. F. H., Bovina and Shiocton, $1,300 plus $156, Jt. 1, Bovina and Shiocton, $600 plus $72; No. 2, Oneida, $133.33 plus $49.07, Jt. 1 Bovina and Shiocton, $300 plus $24, Jt. 6, Dale (Normal) $366.33 plus $147.33; No. 4 Dale, (Normal) $500 plus $200; No. 5, Black Creek, (Normal) $267 plus $146.85, Jt. 13, Greenville and Grand Chute, $333 plus $133.40; No. 1, Oneida, $357 plus $157.15; Com Pt. 1, Dale, (University) $950 plus $307.20, No. 7, Cicero, (Normal) $357 plus $190.64; Com. Jt. 1, Dale, Normal $765 plus $245.75; No. 1, Oneida, (Normal) $225 plus $79.40, Jt. 7, Oneida $166.65 plus $102.15, Jt. No. 10, Seymour and Cicero, (Normal) $521.45 plus $220.14.

STATE TAX CUT

The tax for the whole state for this year is $8,021,525, as compared with $9,710,059.91 required last year which means a reduction of $587,563.90.

The lowering of the tax for this year is due to the remission of $1,215,000 in taxes. The difference comes in the university mill tax which would be $1,817,587, but is reduced to $702,587 with the remitted taxes subtracted.

The 1923 levy is $487,560 less than that of 1922.

The certifications sent to the counties show that $144,459 must be raised to pay certificate of indebtedness, $175,000 for free high schools, $235,000 for state graded schools, $702,587 mill taxes for the university, $807,794 in mill taxes for the normals, $3,132,-195 in mill taxes for the common schools.

$842,306 FOR CHARITIES

There must also be included $349,-766.85 for the support of the charitable and penal institutions of the state, a part of which each county pays in relation to the number of inmates it sends to the institutions.

Each county in the state must raise taxes for general state purposes as follows: Adams, $12,300.41; Ashland, $27,655.84; Barron, $61,-556.29; Bayfield, $30,936.00; Brown, $191,694.10; Buffalo, $22,715.92; Burnett, $15,466.05; Calumet, $44,931.49; Chippewa, $61,699.82; Clark, $66,-769.42; Columbia, $74,115.20; Crawford, $21,215.51; Dane, $256,284.05; Dodge, $97,476.04; Door, $20,329.97; Douglas, $59,836.72; Dunn, $55,652.89; Eau Claire, $59,865.49; Florence, $6,-617.80; Fond du Lac, $116,895.94; Forest, $19,012.84; Grant, $106,464.66; Green, $49,495.76; Green Lake, $35,-993.15; Iowa, $59,596.70; Iron, $15,-128.70; Jackson, $21,677.67; Jefferson, $84,695.10; Juneau, $28,731.28; Kenosha, $104,225.94; Kewaunee, $33,-870.70; La Crosse, $71,282.87; Lafayette, $35,527.52; Langlade, $31,227.70; Lincoln, $22,529.64; Manitowoc, $108,-967.99; Marathon, $106,925.44; Marinette, $35,109.34; Marquette, $16,-416.87; Milwaukee, $1,050,269.29, Monroe, $47,023.99, Oconto, $34,-938.58, Oneida, $28,273.14; Outagamie, $103,661.29; Ozaukee, $35,-590.49; Pepin, $13,553.43; Pierce, $45,-979.74; Polk, $50,256.07; Portage, $40,-887.53; Price, $24,490.09, Racine, $165,442.42; Richland, $42,954.05; Rock, $150,182.54; Rusk, $23,553.11; St. Croix, $56,517.67; Sauk, $76,-357.15; Sawyer, $15,771.20; Shawano, $47,545.01; Sheboygan, $123,892.77; Taylor, $25,929.13; Trempealeau, $46,-708.49; Vernon, $54,063.02; Vilas, $12,023.67; Walworth, $87,597.85; Washburn, $17,799.65; Washington, $61,742.10; Waukesha, $93,970.26; Waupaca, $60,215.69; Waushara, $25,-552.63; Winnebago, $114,111.06; Wood, $55,550.16.

Each county has a smaller general state tax this year. The tax in Milwaukee county amounted to $1,-171,450.40 last year.

OWNER OF BIG STILL PAYS FINE OF $250

A fine of $250 and costs were imposed by Judge A. M. Spencer in municipal court Monday afternoon upon Clarence VanRixel of Freedom. The VanRixel farm was raided by Thomas H. Martin, Edward Sullivan, federal prohibition officers, and Walter Scherck, deputy sheriff, several weeks ago. A 35-gallon still and two 10-gallon stills were found on the place. The stills are in the barn and 1,300 pounds of corn sugar used for the manufacturer of moonshine whiskey were found in the granary.

C. OF C. VOTING ON FORESTRY POLICY

Referendum Ballot Provides For Federal And State Conservation Plan

Referendum No. 42 of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States concerning reforestration is in the hands of members of Appleton Chamber of Commerce for balloting. The vote is due in Washington Nov. 17 and ballots are to be mailed to the local chamber several days before that time.

Three questions are to be voted upon by the members receiving the ballot to indicate their belief as to what the forestry policy of the government should be. They are recommendations of a special committee appointed to study the problem The national chamber has sent a supply of pamphlets to the local chamber containing the committee findings and the negative arguments on the question.

The first recommendation of the national chamber's committee is "that the federal government should, for the protection of headwaters of navigable streams and to the extent permitted by existing law, acquire, reseed and replant waste lands on which reproduction of forest growth cannot be obtained by natural means, with discretion in the secretary of agriculture to prefer lands in states which provide at least an equal amount of funds for acquisition of such lands."

Recommendation No. 2 of the committee is "that states and municipalities should acquire, reseed and replant the remainder of such waste lands."

The third proposal provides for legislation, the committee recommending "that congress should enact new legislation with reference to other classes of timberland, to make provision for cooperation of federal government, state governments and timber owners in protection and reproduction of timber."

U. S. CALLS MEETING ON COMMERCIAL EDUCATION

Correlating of business experience with teaching of commercial subjects in schools will be the purpose of a conference in St. Paul and Minneapolis Nov. 2 and 3, according to notice received by the chamber of commerce from the United States department of the interior. Wisconsin is among the states that are to send representatives to this gathering.

Business men and high school teachers who instruct in business subjects are asked to attend the conference. Representatives of organized business will be asked to show how they can be of service to commercial faculties and to suggest how schools can be of greater help to business. Colleges and private business schools also are asked to have their representatives attend.

Children Get Early Start In Life Work

As soon as the libraries for the special interest clubs of Second district eighth grade students are completed, the clubs, which help to develop a knowledge of professions open to men and women, will be resumed. Just what the interests of the students in eighth grade at the present prove to be will determine the nature of the clubs. Leaders, several of whom will be from the professions to be looked into, will be secured.

Much of the literature which Ben Rohan, principal of the Second district schools, has been able to secure, has come from manufacturers or persons themselves interested in similar project. A large amount of material for the auto mechanics club for instance, has come from the various automobile manufacturers. Statistics and information concerning the reforestration projects has been available from many sources and is found in many books for the forestry club. The assistance of many noted people including Zona Gale and several prominent librarians in the state has been required for the development of these club lists of reading material.

Each student is given an opportunity to state what profession he thinks he will be interested in when he "grows up." The list of suggested professions includes those which require shop and mill training a well as those which require more technical instruction in college and laboratory.

NEW FORGER BUSY, C. OF C. WARNED

Warning to Appleton to be on the lookout for a new worthless check passer is contained in a letter received by the chamber of commerce from the commercial organization at Gloversville, N. Y.

The letter declares that a man named J. L. Johnson, formerly of the Littauer corporation of Gloversville, is issuing worthless checks in the name of that company. He operates under the firm name of J. L. Johnson Co., Inc., with headquarters in room 204, Jackson bldg. Denver, Colo.

This man has operated in this manner in several parts of the country and chambers of commerce are asked to secure cooperation of the police departments, hotels, banks and business houses to bring about his arrest. He uses checks printed especially for his work.

A Constructive Force

FROM the day when its first refinery was opened, it has been the earnest endeavor of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to be a constructive force in the industrial life of the nation.

With all modesty we say—frankly, sincerely, and with profound conviction—that this organization has been such a force.

When this Company was organized, only a few products were taken from crude oil. Today, hundreds of products—useful, convenient, imperatively needed by the public at large—are taken from this single base.

This industrial husbandry, redounding to the material benefit of mankind, is eloquent in demonstrating the kind of work which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has been doing year after year.

This Company always has been a leader. The advanced work it has done in research, discovery, technical application, development and manufacturing, has added much to the wealth of the world.

Hundreds of industries have improved their manufacturing processes and largely increased their productiveness because of the advanced work this Company has done—and such improvement has enabled the manufacturer to sell his products at a lower price than would have been possible otherwise.

Because of the Company's advanced thinking, planning and preparation the price of petroleum products generally has been kept within reasonable bounds in the face of a demand which is unprecedented in history.

Every factor in this great organization is carefully attuned to the constructive ideals of conservation, equity, fairness and justice, which in turn have operated in a comprehensive way to the distinct and material advantage of the thirty million people living in the Middle Western States.

BRANDON, RIOT INCITER, NOW IS HAMMERING K.K.K.

Anti-Catholic Lecturer Of a Few Years Ago. Fights Ku Klux Klan

Memories of the religious riot in Appleton a number of years ago were recalled by the publication of an article in Hearst's International October issue, a part of which treats of the experiences of William L. Brandon in the Ku Klux Klan.

Brandon will be remembered here as the Guardians of Liberty lecturer who brought suit against Mayor August Knuppel, City Attorney Henry D. Ryan and Police Chief Michael Garvey because he had been forbidden the use of Armory D for his lecture against Catholicism. Brandon was taken to the police station and a riot followed. The case against the mayor and city attorney was dismissed, but a judgement against the chief was rendered.

The former Anti-Catholic lecturer, in later years joined the Ku Klux Klan and advanced to the office of Kleagle, so the article in the magazine declares. For some reason, presumably because Brandon was not radical enough, he was inflicted with punishment, the nature of which is not mentioned. Before he resigned, he reported his experience to Col W. J. Simmons, then Imperial Wizard of the Invisible Empire, but was met with contempt he says.

He speaks of having been a "victim of the kangaroo court," because of a series of debates with Dr. Edward Adams Cantrol, Los Angeles, over the Irish Republic. At any rate, Brandon asserts he has learned enough of the Klan that "proves beyond doubt that the movement is the most dangerous of organizations in existence." He refuses to let his blood oath prevent him from lecturing against what he terms "this hellish soul enslaving thing called the Invisible Empire." The article says he intends to give up the pastorate of a Baptist church at Portland, Ore., to lecture against the Klan.

Production Record As Important As Pedigree In Buying Purebreds

Edward Lorenz Has Built Up High Grade Herd By Careful Selection Of High Production Animals

BY W. F. WINSEY

Among the reliable and conservative breeders of purebred cattle in Outagamie-co is Edward Lorenz of the town of Ellington. Up to twenty years ago, Mr. Lorenz was trying to make dairying pay with mixed breeds of cattle as the foundation of his effort. After years of thorough trial that brought dissatisfaction and financial disappointments, Mr. Lorenz decided to introduce a purebred sire and heifer into his herd and to gradually eliminate the cows that were not doing much better than paying their board.

As Charles Breitrich, who was living near him, was getting good returns from a herd of purebred Guernseys and was enthusiastic over his cattle and the profits he was getting from them. Mr. Lorenz brought his first purebred heifer from him. Two years after this purchase, Mr. Lorenz bought his first purebred Guernsey sire from Albert Breitrich and four years later, he bought his second herd sire from Anton Schmidt, another Guernsey breeder and booster. The same spring Mr. Lorenz bought two purebred heifers from A. H. Hinman, near Oshkosh. These animals were the ancestors of Mr. Lorenz's present herd and the starting point of his success as a dairyman.

NOW HAS 35 ANIMALS

Edward Lorenz & Sons now have a herd consisting of 35 high class Guernsey grades and purebreds. In the herd includes 17 milking cows, 5 calves and 12 yearlings. About half of the animals are purebreds and the balance grades.

Mr. Lorenz's enthusiasm for purebred cattle does not go so far as to cause him to advise other dairymen to displace a productive grade cow with a low producing purebred, and he frankly admits that some high class grade cows make better butter fat and milk-producing records than low class purebreds. But he does insist on two things. One is that a cow not paying for her board should be displaced with a purebred or a grade with a production record equal to a good purebred. The other is that no dairymen who is looking for profit from his business should have a scrub or grade bull in his herd. He believes in constantly building up a herd by the use of a purebred sire and the occasional introduction of a purebred heifer. Mr. Lorenz believes that if a dairyman with an unproductive herd takes his advice, he can gradually improve his herd and increase his profits without making a large initial expenditure.

WANTS TO KNOW RECORD

Mr. Lorenz says that occasionally a breeder of purebred cattle gets a cow on his hands that is not worth much as a milk producer. Because the breeder has considerable money invested in the cow, and he can't get the milk production profit from her he would like, his inclination sometimes is to get his profit from the sale of her offspring. Mr. Lorenz would rather have a high producing grade cow and her offspring from a purebred sire than such a purebred and offspring. In the purchase of a purebred animal, Mr. Lorenz wants to know the pedigree but he is just as much concerned in finding the dairy type in an animal. In fact he considers the latter as important as the breeding.

"Every dairyman, says Mr. Lorenz," should belong to a milk testing association for the reasons that from this connection, he gets the real dairy spirit, increases his knowledge of balanced rations for dairy cows, and is enabled intelligently to weed out profitless cows from his herd. Mr. Lorenz also believes in having all the dairy cows in the county and state T. B. tested for the reasons that such cleaning up of herds will check the spread of bovine tuberculosis among farm animals and children and make the sale of farm animals and their products to outsiders and home buyers and easier and more profitable process than it now is.

SELLS CATTLE

Mr. Lorenz has made several sales of purebred cattle to dairymen of Montana and Minnesota and is constantly selling his purebred and high class, grade surplus to dairymen of Outagamie and contiguous counties.

"If I had to start over again in the dairy business," says Mr. Lorenz, "I would buy purebreds and high class grades and a purebred sire and raise the purebred calves. Proceeding in this way, I could keep the expense of getting started within reasonable limits.

"Selling ordinary purebred cattle at big prices as something first class," says Mr. Lorenz," is not helping the purebred business. "I never offer any purebred animal for sale that isn't good. I raise and sell all my first class calves to dairymen and the ordinary claves go to the butcher."

The names and records of several cows owned by Edward Lorenz & Sons follow:

Rose, grade cow, six years old, butter fat, 554 pounds, pounds of milk, 11,070, test, 5 per cent.

Louise, grade five years old, butter fat, 422 pounds; pounds of milk, 9,200; test, 4.6 per cent.

Mona Martins, purebred, two years old, butter fat, 354.9 pounds; milk, 6,891 pounds; test, 5.25 per cent.

Flossie, grade cow, two years old, butter fat, 369 pounds, milk, 7,935 pounds, test, 4.63 per cent.

Agnes, grade cow, seven years old butter fat, 345 pounds; milk, 7,227 test 4.77 per cent.

Ross, grade cow, four years old butter fat, 378.6, pounds; milk, 8,545 pounds; test, 4.43 per cent.

Moccasins Jenny, of Elmwood, purebred, four years old, butter fat, 407 pounds, milk, 8,023 pounds; test, 5.07 per cent.

The herd sire, is Dorothee Prince two years old. His sire was Foil Jupiter and his dam, Felly Dorothee

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS

Flush Your Kidneys Occasionally by Drinking Quarts of Good Water.

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Too much rich food creates acid which clog the kidney pores so that they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood. Then you get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage, or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin to drink soft water in quantities; also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone can take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby preventing serious kidney complication. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year. adv.

BROWN SWISS HERD PAYS BIG PROFITS

Seymour Farmer Picked Breed Because Of Gentleness Of Animals

BY W. F. WINSEY

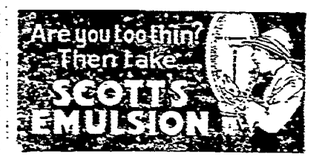

A. W. Jeske, route 1, Seymour, up to five years ago was running a dairy business on his farm with nothing better than scrub and grade cows for support. As his profits above the cost of feed were not large enough to warrant expansion or even a continuance of the business, Mr. Jeske like many farmers before him similarly situated had done and many after him will do, decided to change to purebred cattle.

Mr. Jeske says that his first choice was Ayrshires, then on visiting herds, it swung to the Short Horns and finally it wound up with Brown Swiss.

On being pressed for the reason for his final choice, Mr. Jeske said that he liked the color and lines of the Brown Swiss animal, its disposition and friendly attitude even to strangers the small amount of feed consumed in comparison with production and the superior butterfat and milk records. He says farther that Brown Swiss cattle are very attractive and it is a pleasure to work with them and for them. They seem to be interested in and to appreciate everything that one does for them.

Mr. Jeske has reached the point now where he can begin to weed out cows of low production records and fill their places with better cows. He bought his first purebred Brown Swiss sire, Leona Boy, from Charles Kittle, Oshkosh. He bought four heifers the same spring from the same man. A year ago last June, he bought his second herd sire, Prince of Seymour, from Frank Steffel, Tillady, Wisconsin. He has five head of purebreds Brown Swiss at the present time.

Mr. Jeske is in favor of milk testing associations and the eradication of bovine tuberculosis from the dairy herds of the county and entire state.

BETTER LOOK INTO THIS! PLAYING CARDS FOUND IN HIGH SCHOOL

It may be a far cry from the novel Ivanhoe to a deck of playing cards, but a high school freshman made it in one mental leap when he made his poster to advertise the book to the school. The freshmen English classes taught by Miss Letha Dambruch have just finished reading the book and were asked to make posters advertising the book.

One ingenious student got his pictures of kings for his chivalry illustration from a deck of cards. His idea made a creditable poster, too. Many of the advertisements are posted in the halls of the high school now.

FINDS "STOLEN" WOOD IN NEIGHBOR'S BASEMENT

Frank VanHandel who resides on Sixth-st, ordered a load of wood Monday which was delivered late in the afternoon. When he went to put it in the cellar Tuesday morning it was missing.

Former Sheriff P. G. Schwartz, his neighbor who uses the same driveway, ordered a load of wood also Monday and when he came home and saw the wood in the driveway he supposed it was his and took charge of it.

Mr. VanHandel's first impression was the wood was stolen, but upon investigation he soon learned what became of it.

LAWRENCE GRAD OF FIFTIES WILL BE HOMECOMING GUEST

Students Complete Plans For Annual Reception For Old-Timers

Myra A. Rod of Morrison, Ill., who attended Lawrence in 1851 is among the "old grads" who will be back for the Lawrence Homecoming which begins on Friday evening with a huge mass meeting and torchlight parade. It is expected that a large number of former graduates and students will be in Appleton over the weekend to see Lawrence "Rip Ripon" and to visit with each other and get acquainted with the college as it is today.

All Appleton alumni are urged to register with the others at Lawrentian room of Main hall Saturday morning. A picture of visiting alumni will be taken on the steps of Main hall at 9:15. The parade of floats representing all the clubs and organizations of the college will begin at 9:30 and will lead the students and their guests to Lawrence field where the freshmen squads from Lawrence and Ripon will have an encounter.

One of the features of the celebration will be the dance which the Appleton alumni will give for the visiting alumni and to which the student body has been invited. Tickets for this dance are on sale in all the fraternity houses and dormitories. It will take place immediately after the banquet.

The trip to the Lawrence field to see the game between Lawrence and Ripon will be made in a body, starting from Main hall at 1:30. The procession will be led by the Lawrence band. Lawrence field will be decorated with blue and red and white, the colors of the contesting schools. The freshmen class will put on an entertainment between halves of the game.

"No," Clare answered with an air of finality. "I'm on my way now." Mr. Hinkle cut his finger. I've been applying first aid."

"Woman's traditional mission—to bind our wounds." Dr. Wadham wagged a finger at her. He had crossed to the door. Turning, his eyes met Daniel. It came to him that his remarks had another significance. "To bind cut— We'll, I must be going. Step into my study in the morning, Daniel, and we'll have a look at your sermon."

Clare watched him out. She was irritated.

"I hope I never see another doll!" she said petulantly. Then she noticed that Gilchrist had not spoken. "Anything on your mind, Dan?" she asked.

"What do you—" he started, looking up quickly.

"I mean anything special to do."

"Oh—no," he responded, relieved. "Take me home," she commanded gently.

The quiet smile came back.

"I'm getting my Christmas present early," he said, reaching for his hat.

"Where's your coat?" she asked absently.

"Outside— That is I lent it to a friend. Oh, I've got another—somewhere."

"But you can't go out without a coat. It's cold." She glanced at her wrist watch. "Anyway, I told a taxi man to come at half-past 4. Well, we may as well sit down." She was watching him closely. "What's the matter with you Dan?" she said at length.

"Nothing important," he said, dodging her eyes.

"There will be if you insist on going around without an overcoat." She looked at him narrowly. "You're too generous." His eyes were far away. "I say," she repeated, "you're too generous. How are we going to be married if you go on giving things away?"

"Is generosity a fault in a husband?" he laughed.

"That depends," she returned seriously. "Is it true you've been giving away—well—large sums of money?"

"Who told you that?"

"A little bird. And that you've refused to take part of your income?"

"Little bird tell you that?"

"Birds talk too much."

"It is true?"

"About the money? Yes."

"Why?"

"Well, there's the strike, and a good deal of unemployment, and I've got so much. Why—I've got you!" He turned to her eagerly.

"Let's not talk about that now," she said, rising. Then suddenly her face changed. It took on something of the obscurity the shadows were giving to the great empty church room. "Yes, let's—" she decided, sitting down beside him again. "You're so changed. I hardly know you. We don't seem to want the same things any more."

"What do you want, Clare?" he asked earnestly.

"I want to be happy."

"That's exactly what I want," he agreed happily.

"How can anybody be happy without money?" she asked gravely.

"How can anybody be happy with?" he returned. "Anyway, do you think people are? Happier than people who have just enough?"

"In our day and age," Clare defended, "there's nothing worse than poverty. There's nothing more degrading than having to scrimp and save, and do without and keep up appearances. I've tried it—ever since my father died—and I know. I can't do it any longer and I won't."

"Clare!" It was a mood new to him. His exclamation startled her and she turned away. In a moment she was calmer.

"I don't want to quarrel with you, Dan," she said gently. "I just want you to be sensible. I love you, but love the good things of life, too. I like to be warm and comfortable."

"You can be sure of that," he promised.

"But that's only the beginning," she purred. "I want good clothes, and furs, and my car and money to spend when I like. I want my own house, and my own servants, and a husband who amounts to something. I'm no different from other women of my class."

"I hoped you were," he admitted, half to himself. "A year or two ago people thought you were going to be a bishop. Today you've made an enemy of every influential man in the church. All that may be very noble, but I'm not noble and I don't pretend to be. I don't feel any call to sacrifice myself for others, and I don't think you have any right to ask it."

"I do ask it, Clare," he insisted.

"You mean you're going on like this?" They were standing now and facing each other, she with an air of defiance, he with the calm resolution of conviction.

"I mean I can't give you expensive clothes, and servants, and a big house, while all about us people are hungry."

"What do you propose to do with me?" she inquired rather scornfully.

"A chance to help," he answered.

She turned on him, looking smartly at him.

"I can't believe you're serious," she gasped. "You've always been a dreamer, but I can't believe you're going through with this fantastic nonsense."

He was still calm. Perhaps it was this strange control of which she was not capable that added to Clare's irritation.

"I've chosen a narrow path, dear," he said, "but I hoped it might be wide enough for us both."

"It isn't," she returned, finality in her tone. "With your means and opportunities, you're offering me what any bank clerk would give his wife. I thought you loved me, but you're utterly selfish, and I think a little mad. You've a right to throw away your own life, but you've no right to throw away mine."

He lifted a hand in protest, but it was too late. She moved toward him, fumbling with her hands. By the time she had reached his side she had taken off her ring. She handed it to him with an impatient gesture. He paused a moment, then accepted it in mute abnegation.

"Our engagement is off!" she declared metallically.

CHAPTER VII

A FRIEND IN NEED

Clare paused a moment, expectant. It seemed incredible that he would let her go that way. Surely he would say something. Surely he would see that he was wrong.

She waited for his surrender. Gilchrist was silent. He stood staring at the ring which lay in the palm of his hand, shorn of its symbolism.

She turned, excepting that his hand would reach out to halt her. He did not move. Slowly she made her way toward the door. She paused a moment with her hand on the knob, waiting for his footsteps behind her. The sombre silence of the church seemed like a deafening roar in her ears.

She could not see Gilchrist's face. There was no answer in his attitude. She took a step forward, but still he did not move. Then she walked slowly to his side.

"Don't you think you're making a terrible mistake?" she asked.

He looked up from the ring. His answer was in his eyes, and she read it there. But he repeated it.

"No," he said simply.

Clare lifted her head with a defiance that was characteristic of her other self. This time there was no hesitancy in her step. She strode to the door with resolution. Without looking back she opened it. Four numbers tingled in her brain. "Poverty—six—nine—four — two" "No, that wasn't the exchange. How idiotic! It was "Rhinelander." She did not stop to close the door.

Gilchrist looked after her. He waited until the outer door had echoed her departure, then walked slowly over and closed the door. Quietly he placed the ring in his pocket.

An organ began to play softly in the choir room. Its tremulous notes echoed through the vast emptiness of the church.

The solitude of it all seemed to comfort him. He felt a companionship in it. There were not even shadows now. He and the darkness were alone. There was solace from the silence in the quiet music of the organ.

He crossed to the altar and stood looking up at the broken forms outlined in the painted windows. How far away they seemed! And yet how real! The Shepherd in the center—

He turned suddenly at the sound of a step. The church was wrapped completely in a darkness which his eyes could not penetrate.

Again came the step.

Brassiere Helps Make Dresses Fit

Long Type Has Come Into Mode In Order To Bring Out Lines Of Figure

A very important, and yet often neglected, subject which should be of interest to every smart woman is the brassiere. The type of brassiere which completely flattens out and binds the figure is no longer used. The newer models only tend to support the figure and its contours. Owing to the very low line of the new corsets, the long brassiere has come into the mode. The woman of today must depend upon the brassiere for the supple control of the upper part of her body that her corset gives below the waist. The brassiere accomplishes these firm lines by dart seams cleverly placed across the bust.

MADE OF LACE OR SILK

A very youthful effect is achieved by a model made of firm white cotton net covered with a fine Brussels lace, to wear with a white satin girdle which is covered with the same lace; it may be made of eyelet-trimmed batiste, or of net for more practical use; or it may be executed in any other materials, such as crepe or satin or heavy Italian silk. This last named silk, in flesh or white, is much used for the very short brassiere which just covers the bust. And these, too, have been designed along the new lines approved by the Frenchwoman, with the idea of not flattening the chest, but of firmly supporting the figure. The slight curve is achieved by a row of gathers at the center of the front. In various laces, this same type of brassiere is suitable for evening.

One must remember, however, that, unless the lingerie is of a correspondingly simple type, the graceful lines of the newer brassiere will be entirely lost.

LITTLE TRIMMING

The lingerie of today is almost free from trimming. Net footing has superceded lace, in many instances, as an edging for nightgowns or slips, largely because it is far less expensive, launders well and gives no added bulk. Just a bit of fine hand embroidery is often used on heavy crepe de chine and drawnwork appear on many models, which also have the finest and flattest knife plaits to give needed fulness. Many of the new nightgowns have waistlines and either an infinitesimal sleeve or no sleeve at all. In its very simplicity and lack of trimming, the modern nightgown takes on a new sophistication and becomes almost a frock. One worn by many smart women has rows of narrow blue ribbon drawn through the material over the shoulder and down to a low waistline. The narrow string girdle ties at the side. One very new feature is the heaviness of the flat crepe used for nightgowns, so that they may almost serve as negligees. Voile tripie, another durable material is much used, too, and Italian silk has established for itself a firm place in the mode for the more practical types of lingerie and brassierers.—Vogue.

Interior Decorating Possible By Amateur

In spite of the present day vogue of interior decorating as practiced by experts some persons hesitate to use its principles in beautifying their homes. They apparently consider the difficulties for amateurs on a plane with those of Black Magic or of writing "movie" scenarios.

Their mistake is evident when specific examples and the choice of furnishings they require are considered. Among these the Colonial house as shown, with its option of formal or informal treatment, is encountered frequently.

An almost severe simplicity characterizes it in harmony with the early days of the Republic in whose troublous times it was evolved.

This is strictly adhered to in decorating according to the formal mode. Floors are covered to within a short distance of the baseboard with plain carpet-like rugs. The walls are either painted in an unobtrusive tone and panelled by wooden molding or covered with wall paper in which appear block figures. The woodwork of the walls and doors is white enamel. It may be varied by having the doors of mahogany. The furniture is a combination of simple frame mahogany with a few upholstered chairs or divans arranged in harmony with the walls of the room. Characteristic furniture of the period may be seen at any well equipped furniture store.

At the windows the overdraperies, which are of silk or heavily mercerized fabric, are plain if figured walls are chosen. If the walls are plain overdraperies in a figure material frequently give the best result. The window curtains are of straight hanging filet net or simple point d'esprit lace.

Informal or cottage Colonial appeals to many, on the other hand, because of its greater air of ease. Small braided rugs are substituted for the carpet-like one. Heavy upholstered furniture disappears in favor of rush bottomed chairs. The walls may be of rough plaster, with low wainscoting. At the windows chintz overhangings replace silk and the formality of the straight hung filet net is relieved by a ruffled curtain, tied back.

In both modes, as in any other style of decoration, careful heed is given to color. A dominant color in one room is carried through all its furnishings and is brought into harmony with those in adjoining rooms on the same floor. Walls and floors are neutral, serving as a background. Other exceptions are noted only in the case of the window curtains which are in the best of taste only in white, ivory or natural tints.

Side Drape Remains

This is one of the most popular of the new styles for wraps shown in advance winter models. It retains the slight side drape that has been so well liked in frocks and coats since early spring and the flat front that is even smarter still.

The high choker collar is new, too, and the curved opening line from throat to hip. Any one of half a hundred kinds of fur can be used for trimming and many new materials—soft pile fabrics mostly—have been especially invented for these graceful modish lines.

LONG STREAMERS

Evening dresses of georgette frequently tie on the left shoulder with streamers that may reach almost to the hemline.

Apples Cooked In Cider Make Delicious Dish

An old-fashioned dish which has a flavor so good that it ought to become a new-fashioned one is prepared by cooking apples in cider. This is the method of making:

Apples are never better than when baked or boiled in cider. When baked prepare in the usual manner and pour into the pan a cup and a half of cider, with a slice of lemon and a bit of stick cinnamon. Add also a tablespoon of sugar and baste the fruit frequently while cooking. Serve with the liquor poured over them.

For apples boiled in cider, peel, core and cut in eighths juick cooking apples, and cook in cider to nearly cover, adding two whole cloves, an inch piece of stick cinnamon and 2 diced slices of orange. Cook gently for three or four minutes and add sugar to taste.

When the fruit is clear and transparent, but not broken, skim out into a glass dish. Cook down the sirup, adding more sugar, if necessary; strain and pour over the fruit. Chill and garnish with mounds of sweetened whipped cream.

Ebony brushes might be harmed if washed directly with ammonia or soda water. But if rubbed thoroughly with vaseline, which is later removed by dusting, the wood would remain unspoiled.

SPORTS BLOUSES

Sport blouses of radium and silk broadcloth come in excellent styles this season. The more dressy blouses have elaborate beading and embroidery.

FOR LOW ROOMS

Stripes in the wallpaper make the ceilings look higher, while figures lessen the size of the room.

Sister Mary's Kitchen

CELERY

What do you do with the coarse outer stalks of celery? Consign them to the garbage can with a sigh as worthless?

In order not to repeat flavors, do not serve the cooked dishes the same meal you serve the fresh celery.

Care should be taken that the pieces used for cooking are quite as crisp as those served fresh. Crisp in cold water, removing any rust, blanch and drain.

If these suggested precauttions are kept in mind when preparing celery you will find that your original purchase answers a two-fold purpose and a delicious hearty vegetable develops from the usual waste included in a bunch of celery.

The recipe for celery soup is not included in these rules as it was used a short time ago. These recipes may be just what you've been wanting. Anyway you will like them.

CELERY STICKS

Twelve stalks celery, 1 tablespoon vinegar, 2 tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 2 eggs, fine dried bread crumbs.

Cut celery in pieces four inches long. Let stand in cold water to which the vinegar has been added for half an hour. Drain and parboil them in slightly salted boiling water for 15 minutes. Drain and drop into cold water. Let stand two minutes. Drain and chill. Melt butter, stir in flour and slowly add milk, stirring constantly. Add pepper, salt, lemon juice and one egg well beaten. Set aside until cold. Dip celery in sauce to completely mask them. Let stand until firm enough to handle. Roll in bread crumbs, dip in eggs slightly beaten, roll again in crumbs and fry in deep hot fat. The fat should be hot enough to brown an inch cube of bread from the soft part of the loaf in 60 seconds.

If the celery and sauce are prepared in the morning the dish is easily and quickly finished at dinner time.

CELERY AU FROMAGE

Three cups celery, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, ⅛ teaspoon paprika, 2 tablespoons grated cheese, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 2 tablespoons mined parsley, 1 pimento.

Cut celery into inch pieces and measure. Drop into slightly salted boiling water and cook until tender. Drain. Melt butter in a smooth sauce pan, add celery and stir over a low fire until well coated with butter. Sift over flour and stir carefully to avoid crushing or breaking celery. Add milk, salt, pepper and paprika and cook until thick. Add one tablespoon cheese and lemon juice. Turn into a hot dish, sprinkle with remaining cheese and brown quickly in a hot oven. Surround with a ring of parsley and drop bits of pimento over the dish.

Celery is often served in a white sauce on toast. This with crisp bacon makes a delicious luncheon dish.

The English make a dish of celery, a little onion, macaroni and white sauce that is unusual and piquant.

The leaves of celery can be easily dried and used to advantage in soup when celery becomes high and scarce.

Window Garden Ideas

WILD FLOWERS TRANSPLANTED

A most satisfactory and interesting window garden can be made from our attractive wild flowers.

November is the best month to collect the woodland beauties for the winter window garden. They should be left in an open shed or some similar place for a few weeks so that they may complete their resting period before being forced into bloom.

Thick - rooted bloodroots are easy to grow. The graceful columbine is always interesting. Jack-in-the-pulpit bulbs planted in any of the ways in which ordinary bulbs are planted will soon send up interesting leaves and their unique flowers.

FASHION HINTS

SILVER AND BLACK

A hat for wear with a dress frock has a crown of silver cloth and a brim of soft black lace.

BROWN IN DEMAND

Brown, in all shades, becomes more popular as the season advances. It is featured particularly for coats and suits.

GREEN AND BLACK

Some of the most lovely lingerie recently displayed is of green georgette trimmed with black shadow lace and black ribbon.

YELLOW AND BLUE

With a plain little frock of navy charmeen are trimmings of bright canary yellow braid and a canary colored felt cloche.

Adventures Of The Twins

Peterkin And The North Pole

"Anybody else lost?" asked Nick. King Snookums was just about to say no, that his subjects were all accounted for, when in rushed Mrs. Peterkin Pee Wee.

"Peterkin's gone!" she cried. "He got so warm, he said he was going to find the North Pole and off he started at ten o'clock this morning. Now it's two and he isn't home yet and I've had his dinner waiting since twelve o'clock. I had such a nice dinner, too! Apple seed pudding with dandelion juice and ant's egg omelette."

"We'll find him," said Nancy. "Don't you worry any more. But as he went away in daylight he couldn't have been riding a lightning bug."

"No, I forgot to tell you," said Mrs. Peterkin Pee Wee. "He was riding a fly."

"Then I believe I know exactly where to find him," said Nancy firmly. "We'll look in all the kitchens."

"But kitchens are hot!" exclaimed Mrs. Peterkin. "And Peterkin was hunting for the North Pole. He wanted some place that was cool."

Nancy laughed. "I know a secret," she declared, nodding her wise little head.

Now Mrs. Brown was going to make ice-cream because it was Billy Brown's birthday and Farmer Brown had put a large cake of ice on the kitchen porch to smash up for the ice-cream freezer.

Nancy and Nick went straight toward the Browns' house to look for poor Peterkin Pee Wee.

At first they thought he wasn't there but they soon saw the ice and a hole melted in it you could stick your finger into, and peeked in.

And there was Peterkin Pee Wee melted down in, and almost frozen.

"I went to sleep on the North Pole," he yelled up at them. "And when I woke up I was away down here. Brrr! Please throw me a rope and pull me out."

So Nick let down a piece of string and Peterkin caught hold and was hauled up safely and taken home to his worried wife.

"I'll hunt the South Pole next time!" he declared with chattering teeth.

AL SMITH ATTACKS HEARST IN SPEECH

New York Governor Says Tammany Leader Vents Personal Spleen On Democrats

By Associated Press

New York—Politicians Wednesday saw a renewal of the long-standing feud between Governor Smith and William Randolph Hearst in the governor's Tammany hall speech Tuesday night when he said: "The editor-politician is venting his personal spleen against the Democratic party because it saw fit to throw cold water over his personal aspirations for high political office."

Although the Governor did not mention Mr. Hearst's name, his inference was unmistakable when he referred to the "editor-politician's" present support of the state Republican judiciary ticket.

"Monumental fakirs, political or otherwise, have a great time for a little while," he said. "When the lights turn for them they burn very brightly. When the band plays it blares very loudly. While the cheering lasts it is very encouraging.

"But the day of reckoning comes with the cold gray dawn of the morning when people realize they have been the victim of a bunco game intended to promote somebody's political and personal ambitions."

SEE HOPE OF PEACE IN RUHR CONCLAVE

Protracted Session Of Stinnes Group With Allies Raises Optimism

By Associated Press

Duesseldorf—Hope for the ultimate success of the present negotiations for the resumption of work in the Ruhr valley, in progress between the Hugo Stinnes group of industrialists and the French authorities is seen, in the very protracted nature the conversations have assumed. It was announced Wednesday that the conference had been divided into a number of sub-committees, each charged with certain technical details.

The next plenary session of the conference has been called for Friday.

Another sign that the discussion was progressing smoothly was found in the announcement that the industrialists had not begun their general progressive lockout Monday as they had threatened. This was held to indicate that the Ruhr employers have sufficient hope of reaching an agreement to justify the abandonment or suspension of their plan for coercive action against the occupying forces.

Call For Reinforcements Puts Darker Hue On First Reports

By Associated Press

Manila — One hundred additional Philippine constabulary troops left Wednesday for the Island of Mindanao aboard the coast guard cutter Mindoro.

While no recent word has been received from Governor General Wood who is at Parang, Mindanao, investigating the recent Moro uprisings, the sending of reinforcements is believed to indicate that the situation is more serious than he first thought.

The most recent Moro outbreak occurred Sunday, Oct. 14, in the Lanao district of Mindanao, when a constabulary detachment of ten men and three school teachers were massacred.

PROBE POLLUTION OF CHICAGO RIVER

By Associated Press

Chicago—Pollution of the Chicago river by matter dumped into the stream near the Chicago stock yards was taken up before a committee from the Chicago sanitary district trustees and the stock yards at a preliminary hearing Wednesday.

The meeting is the result of a demand made by the chairman of the special senatorial committee investigating the McCormick deep waterway bill that immediate steps be taken to curtail pollution of the Chicago river. The matter turned into the River near the stockyards was specifically mentioned by the special committee.

An effort will be made, according to the sanitary district trustees, to settle the matter to the satisfaction of the special committee before congress convenes in December.

Columbus Day Banquet Speaker Blames Badgers For Own Evils

"Ten years ago Wisconsin was known over the length and breadth of our land as the most progressive state in the union but if we continue along our present tendencies it soon will be known as the most jackassical state in the union," Phil Grau, director of activities at Marquette university, Milwaukee, declared in a highly entertaining address at the belated Columbus day banquet of the Knights of Columbus in Hotel Appleton Tuesday night. Mr. Grau warned that there is "danger, curve ahead, go slow!" and he urged greater attention to and interest in political affairs.

It was one of the most enjoyable parties ever arranged by Knights of Columbus here. After a program which included solos by Robert M. Connelly and Miss Mildred Farrall and a reading by Miss Bertha M Parry, the evening was spent in dancing. Almost 200 persons attended the party.

KEEP THIS A REPUBLIC

Mr. Grau said that a celebration in honor of Christopher Columbus should be a time of rededicatoin to the ideals and purposes which actuated the founders to make this country a pure democracy because in the history of the world no pure democracy has long existed. The United States of America was founded as a republic and it is the duty of every man and woman to see that it remains a republic, he said.

In difference to the rights and duties of citizenship are blamed for most of the evils of legislation with which this state has to contend, Mr. Grau said. He castigized the men who are leaving Wisconsin because they are opposed to the legislation that is attempted here declaring that they should remain in the state and help correct the evils of which they complain. The heaviest losses will not fall on the wealthy men who are able to leave the state with their industries but upon the thousands of persons who will be thrown out of employment by their removal. On top of this loss, is the fact that the burden of paying the state's bills will fall upon those who remain in the state, which is sufficient reason for those who cannot leave to see to it that there is no legislation which will drive big taxpayers out of the state and thereby increasing their own burden.

The employer and the capitalist whose aloofness and disinclination to meet the common people, were blamed largely for their own ills. Mr. Grau declared that this refusal to mingle with the common people, to discuss their problems in a spirit of mutual understanding, has resulted in a feeling of suspicion, mistrust and misunderstanding which has given the radical leader, who goes to the people, a chance to get in his insidious doctrines.

The Ku Klux Klan and other organizations which are fomenting religious and racial discord were severely denounced as unAmerican and unpatriotic. Mr. Grau commended the Knights of Columbus for their patriotism during the war and declared that in his earliest youth he was taught that it was not necessary to wear a hood and a mask to defend the constitution.

SCHAUDE TRIAL IS PUT OFF BY COURT

Elkhorn—Mrs. Myrtle Schaude, 36 year old widow of Whitewater, who has confessed poisoning her husband two and a half years ago, and attempting last month to poison her four children, was arraigned here Wednesday before Justice of the Peace Charles Williams of Whitewater and the hearing postponed indefinitely.

Ernest Kufahl, former service man who was a boarder at the Schaude home while attending the Whitewater normal school as a vocational school student, was charged with being an accomplice in the murder of Edward Schaude, the woman's husband, will be arraigned for preliminary hearing Saturday.
